OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24, 1864.

During the past week a more cheerful feeling has exhibited itself in monetary and stocks circles, and on steamer day (Saturday last) quite an abatement in the demand for money was apparent. The merchants are gradually getting into a more comfortable condition, and stock dealers, most of whom have lost heavily recently, are more hopeful under the rally in some shares. The most encouraging feature to note at present, is the probable influx of Eastern capital the ensuing Summer. It is said that some $300,000 is now in process of transfer to this market, to be invested in our mining stocks and other securities, and that $1,000,000 has been received the past month for these purposes. In addition to this no less than nine Insurance Agencies have lately conformed with the requirements of the new law, which adds $500,000 to our cash capital. It is also thought that the complications likely to attend the future of currency matters at home, will result in the transfer of a large amount of capital to these shares for investment in something more tangible and certain. The stability of our circulating medium gives us a great advantage over our Eastern brethren. Legal Tenders rose easily last week to 62½ and 63, but are now dull and heavy at 57 and 57½. The receipts of treasure for the past ten days have exceeded $1,500,000.

MINING STOCKS.

A number of leading stocks continue to improve, and some speculative fancies are in more request.

The Chamber of Commerce sent forward by telegraph last week, to the authorities at Washington, a strong remonstrance against the proposed Government tax on the proceeds of mines and mining claims. The Press from the interior comes to us laden with lugubrious strains on this subject, and if any heed is paid to such an overwhelming public sentiment, this onerous bill will never become a law.

Gould & Curry was largely dealt in last week, at $3,929 per foot. Ophir reached $1,200 per foot. Savage declined from $2,050 to $1,800, but rose to $1,900. Potosi declined slightly, and was sold at $800. Chollar advanced with a strong demand to $700. North American fell from $145 to $110. Burning Moscow fell to $34, but quickly rallied to $70. Lady Bryan rose from $25 to $42. Baltic rose from $60 to $75. Sierra Nevada advanced to $35, and North Potosi closed firm at $85 and $30. To-day this improvement in the share market is well sustained, and the hope is expressed that better prices are now to prevail.

In Humboldt stocks we have no material change to note.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC—THEATERS, ETC.

Maguire's Academy of Music opened last week, marking a new era in the dramatic and musical annals of this city. This elegant structure is unsurpassed by any Theater of its kind in America, in the splendor of its architectural design, and the beauty and completeness of every interior appointment. The edifice is four stories high, 60 feet wide by 100 feet deep. The front, on Pine street, is mastic, elaborately ornamented. The main or dress circle is on a level with the sidewalk, the seats being stuffed with hair and covered with scarlet plush. The upper circle rests upon 12 iron pillars, and above this is still another tier of boxes. The ceiling is beautifully frescoed, and the appearance of every portion of the auditorium and its surroundings is superb. From the dome a brilliant concentrated light, from an hundred gas jets, is reflected. The Academy (exclusive of the lot) cost about $90,000, and will seat 2,000 persons. 'Playing with Fire,' a new comedy of Brougham's, was selected for the initial representation. This evening Caroline Richings and her father make their first appearance in the opera of 'The Enchantress.' These artistes arrived on the last steamer from New York, and are engaged for 90 days at a heavy expense to Mr. Maguire.

The Metropolitan Theater is charming fair houses, Julia Dean Hayne and Harry Courtaine being the chief attractions.

At the Eureka Minstrel Hall an uninterrupted career of prosperity attends the contrabands.

The famous equestrienne Zoyara made her appearance at Wilson's Mammoth Circus last week, and has created a decided sensation. The fair creature is a wonderful performer, and flies upon the back of her steed in every conceivable direction, leaping and dashing everywhere with the lightness of a gossamer. Three thousand persons nightly attend the exhibition.

Gilbert's Museum (a la Barnum) is growing into favor as a popular resort during all hours of the day and evening.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Our city was visited on Saturday evening last by quite a stunning earthquake, disturbing for a few moments the equilibrium of everybody. A heavy rumbling noise accompanied the several shocks, and the streets were soon filled with the more timid ones. The walls in some houses were cracked, but no material damage was done.

A well-known resident of Sacramento is now undergoing a court martial at the headquarters of this Department, charged with defrauding the Government out of $100 per month in the lease of a certain piece of property belonging to a private citizen.

The Iron Moulders' strike has resulted in the recognition of their rights by the proprietors of the foundries, and their demands for increased wages have been acceded to. Fair and honorable treatment of laboring men is the only policy that should prevail everywhere, and more especially so in this city.

The Reese River sack of flour, originally contributed to the Sanitary Fund by a gentleman of Austin, and which has been sold and resold so many times, has reached this city. After having been put up at auction and sold for the last time, it is to be sent East. Some $50,000 so far has been realized in this novel way.

The U. S. Christian Commission held a large meeting at Platt's Hall on Sunday evening last, in behalf of the suffering soldiers. This is a different affair from the Sanitary Fund Commission, but the object sought to be attained is the same. Our people respond to these pressing calls with less alacrity than formerly, and yet their contributions are large.

The Freedmen's Fund meeting in Platt's Hall last evening was largely attended. This is another appeal to the people of San Francisco in favor of a great Christian and National charity. Addresses were made by Dr. Bellows and others.

Sir James Douglass, late Governor of British Columbia, left yesterday for England, on the steamer Golden City. A complimentary salute was given him on his departure.

An ingenious Chinese device to avoid payment of duties was discovered yesterday by the Custom House officials. Numerous smuggling operations in the opium line have been ferreted out lately, but this last dodge exceeds them all in point of cunning rascality. It seems that the Examiners in overhauling some sample invoices of preserved eggs in jars, discovered that a number of them were made of tin, which were filled with an extract of opium of great value, but so natural in their resemblance to genuine eggs as to almost baffle detection without an ocular demonstration of the fact. The real value of these invoices is said to be $60,000.

Our weather for the past two or three days has been deliciously balmy and Summer-like.

A careful and important summing up of recent telegraphic news from the seat of war indicates much less progress for the National army than was supposed. Grant and Lee have fought a series of battles that are without a parallel in modern history, and yet the results seem indecisive. At the present writing Grant is executing a flank movement southeast of his late position, and the developments of the next few days will be watched with painful interest by every lover of his Country.

Letter from Jacinto.

HONEY LAKE, May, '64.

Dear Register: It has always been a saying with my friends that I was the very picture of bad luck, but if no unforeseen accident should happen me, and the road continues to come to the surface every three-fourths of a mile, the ecclesiastical cusses of Humboldt may expect to be afflicted with my presence in about ten days. Should I fail to connect, you will, in my obituary, please record the fact that among my many redeeming qualities, I have twice sat as chairman of primary meetings where the test oath was, 'are you sound on the Union and square with the washwoman?'

I left the Northern mines of California on the 9th, in company with one of the most ultra Dixie-ites that ever graced this State or any other. He is an old friend, and knows very well that if I had the world my way for a short time, I would jerk the pillars from under Jeff.'s little institution and let him down quicker than you could say 'Bob!' with your mouth open; and if he had things his way awhile, I am greatly mistaken, if Old Abe's auditory nerves are somewhat acute, if he did n't hear something 'drap' suddenly. Both being extremists, we agreed not to say a word about the Nation's troubles, on this trip. Aside from this great flaw in his cranium, Reb is a boon traveling companion: in fact, he 's 'a bully boy'—no glass eye, however—do n't part his hair in the middle, nor sing bass; has three brothers, none of whom were ever in the Legislature nor the San Quentin department. Also, has two sisters, who never were known to suck alum all the week, that they might lisp on Sunday. He says there is not one of the family given to lisping, and they were raised in the center of a persimmon patch, too.

On the way, we were joined by a bald-headed, sore-eyed, bean-poker sharp, who said he was traveling for his health; and made Reb believe that his case was an aggravated one of scrofulous opthalmia; but my notion about them eyes was that looking too long and steadily at small pairs was what's the matter. On the third day, we arrived at the Bluffs, and set about immediately to prepare for our journey.

After getting the wagon half-soled, and each man purchasing a peculiar sort of hat, it was decided to supply the larder and make a start Humboldt-ward. Bean-poker soon returned with a lot of concave block tin, which he assured me would not show dirt. I told him (knowing the ordeal through which we had to pass) that I should n't wonder if a few shirts that would n't show gray-backs would be a good investment. Bean got indignant—thought I was personal. I offered an apology, which seemed to make it all right—at the same time telling him there was danger of being gored by a horned toad on the road, and Red Bluff whisky was the only known antidote. It not only cured the wound, but was a bully good preventive against Indians, Hat Creek Hills, and alkali. That struck his suit, and we were fast friends from that on. I'd had a curiosity to know the cause of that billiard ball looking head—but knowing him very sensitive, dare not ask him. I did not know whether to attribute it to catnip on the bowels in infancy or Squarza on the brain at a more advanced period: but to show how much valuable information a man may gain by keeping his mouth shut, I will tell you how I unraveled it: We had a large chest ['a daddy box,' the Yanks call it] with a very heavy lid, in which we kept our grub. Into this we stowed our demijohn of whisky; and from ten to fifteen times a day you might see Bean-poker drinking; and he always held the lid up with his head. It was all plain enough to me. We three comprised our little party, though quite a delegation of Douglas Cityites are just ahead: Dr. ——, of Star City, who takes with him his amiable and accomplished lady and three little juveniles, either one of them chap enough to drive into an oak stump; also a young disciple of Blackstone, who goes to permanently locate—and I might say of him, that with a few revolutions of the grindstone he can make the Piebes believe that the law-abiding, aunt-like John doe is an injured and much-abused community, and that old Dick Doe, the old, traitorous, out-lawed copperheadish son-of-a-gun, deserves the extreme penalty of the law, to all intents and purposes. And still quite a goodly number talk of leaving Douglas City for Humboldt this Spring, provided they can raise the wind. A man wants to be in good circumstances to pay the toll through to the Bluffs.

You frequently hear, no doubt, extravagant stories about the Pittsburg mines in Shasta county. Now to be as emphatic as possible, I believe they are a d—d humbug. I think if this world was a dead ox, that the Pittsburg mines would be the identical spot where the coyotes and buzzards would commence the post-mortem examination. If I have done injustice to the mines, I'll apologise if I ever go that way.

We rolled out on Friday, and all I expect to know about the Nation's fate for a month was contained in Thursday's dispatch: 'Lee in full retreat! Grant in hot pursuit!' Bully for the hot! I say.

Tuesday brought us to Susan River. There I found an old '52 partner, married, and had quite a family. Old pard was glad to see me. So was spouse, on husband's account. You should have seen me straining my politeness, when introduced to his wife—with dust so thick on my face that a fly could not have crawled on it without a pair of Norwegian snow-shoes. I should have taken them to have just been united in the holy bonds of hemlock, had not young America stalked in, and without noticing me shot his mouth off in the following style: 'Papa, I'll bet you forty thousand dollars I can throw you over the fence!' Myself and old pard smiled. Spouse thought the boy needed correction. I'll make a bet myself, of 300 feet of San Jacinto rock, clear of Spanish, English or Irish grants, mechanics' liens, widows' dowers, or any other shenanegan, that that boy waters his horse in the Danube some day, if the horse lives. I bid the happy family 'good-bye,' and journeyed on with my left year burning all the time; which, according to some superstitious notion that was ground into me in infancy, led me to believe that old pard, and lady were making some remarks about that dust on my face.

On that evening we met the first instalment of red petticoats and low-quartered shoes. Whether they Wintered at Salt Lake, Honey Lake or that brimstone Lake you read of, the deponent no sabe; the old woman, however, looked as if she had been struck over the head with the soot-bag. As this interesting family was a fair specimen of the howling wil-der-ness I will describe them. The old man was a pie-ous cuss; a minister, probably—the one that preached from the following text: 'Two women shall be grinding in a field. One shall be tickled, the other laugh.' All his cry was 'Tobacco.' Said he had no money but Lincoln-green, and powerful little of that. Reb pulled some medicated black-strap on him, which he said according to his weak way of thinking was 'mighty good.' There was an old maid of 40 Summers along who had at no very recent date suffered with confluent small-pox, and the most of it had flew into her face and made her look wretched. Her mouth resembled a trap-door to a butcher shop [bully for hash, bet you!]; nose like an old worn-out thimble, and a face like a plum-duff with the plums picked out. And as the feminine portion of them, minus the hoops, stood leaning against the wagon, they reminded me of just so many collapsed umbrellas after a thunder shower. I asked them but few questions, as I was not in a very good humor—had just been kicked by Bean-poker's mule.

There was something about that mule that I did not rightly understand. He was in good order, good size, and had the latest style of Red Bluff roach; and when traveling, was bedizened with all kinds of mule shoddy; but there must be something almighty black at heart with him, when he backs up and kicks you, about the time you are staking him out to good grass. Now I don't pretend to be more courageous than any of my fellow creatures of the same calibre—but if that mule kicks me again, down comes his political fodder-stack, sure! American stock, with cayuse principles, sp'ect.

Reb is in a stew to-day: I told him there was a soldier's station on Smoke Creek, and I had no doubt but some of those agents of 'Unrelenting Destiny' would make him take the oath. Says he will go back first. He probably has overheard our Douglass City Captain administer the oath to us high privates at some time or other. He used to make us swear to support Uncle Sam, Uncle Abe, Aunt Jemima, our Russian brother-in-law, Young America, and dam, to last and least relation—the ceremonies ending most generally with lager beer for all hands! He was my King of Capitan, bet you!

With my visit to Unionville in the prospective, let me engage your services. As the authorities may ask me to heave in sight some visible means of support, I would like you to secure me two well-defined feet in some wild pussy, neatly encased in Balmoral stockings—provided the heel extensions don't crop out over four or five inches—and charge the same to my account. And furthermore, will you stand a little catechism? How's your whisky? Has it age, strength, and endurance? How's billiards! Do scratches count? And, I might add, was John Brown's knapsack badly strapped? I must close, wishing The Register the greatest of success, at the same time hoping there may be no undue excitement in soap stocks—as I shall want to take a wash, after I have been in two or three weeks and get rested.

Liberty, Abe, and the Humboldt Mines, forever! Nary mule. JACINTO.

A poet lecturer (Saxe very likely,) was congratulated, the other day, on the pleasure of popularity. 'Don't you find it pleasant,' said a pretty woman, 'to be surrounded by a crowd of ladies in the way you were last night, after the lecture?' 'Yes, replied he, smiling his acknowledgement of the compliment; 'but it would be vastly pleasanter to be surrounded by one!'

A disappointed spinster says the reason an old maid is generally so devoted to her cat is that, not having any husband, she naturally takes to the next most treacherous animal.

A beautiful woman is like a great truth or a great happiness, and has no more right to cover herself with a green veil, or any similar abomination, than the sun has to wear green spectacles.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the next general census shall be taken, said State of Nevada shall be entitled to one representative in the House of Representatives of the United States, which representative, together with the Governor and State and other officers provided for in said constitution, may be elected on the same day a vote is taken for or against the proposed constitution and State government.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That twenty other entire sections of land, as aforesaid, to be selected and located as aforesaid, in legal subdivisions as aforesaid, shall be, and they are hereby granted to said State for the purpose of erecting a suitable building for a penitentiary or State prison in the manner aforesaid.

CORRESPONDENTS.

E. M. G.—Glad to receive your voluminous message. Thing has been fixed.

G. F. N.—Guess that will be all right. Luff will attend to it. The powder-horn team hasn't lit yet. Looking for that every month, now.

P. S.—It has lit.

J. S., Folsom.—All straight, only it will be well to put a stamp 'onto' the next.

'ORIGINAL MAGNA CHARTA,' Santa Clara District, goes on with work next week.

'MANITOWOC' is improving in appearance—quartz coming in in considerable veins.

BULLION.—Ewing & Washburn have two fine bricks for shipment Monday—$1,304.

'BUENA VISTA' company has found a capital prospect, 150 feet down in the 'Rising Sun' ledge. As fine a show of metal as any ledge in the district.

'ANDERSON' is 150 feet down in the new incline shaft, with a well-defined ledge 3 feet width the whole depth, and quartz now improving in quality.

'THE ARIZONA' is doing good work now, running night and day. Ledge well defined, and containing very fine ore.

FLOUR TRADE.—Tuesday night, some heavy-muscled scamp entered the Exchange Hotel, by a window, and packed off three sacks of flour.

WEATHER.—Thunder, and a dash of rain, with sunshine sprinkled through, almost every day for weeks past.

PARTY AT STAR CITY.—Foster & Wise have fitted up their 'Telegraph Saloon' in perfect order, and will give a party Tuesday evening next.

The saloon will be opened 'as such' one week from to-night.

NEWSPAPER FILES come with promptness and regularity from the hands of Loberstein. People who want newspapers or pictorials will find him attentive and well-fixed. It is much more respectable, too, than bumming about a printing office, trying to sponge your reading and getting snubbed.

OUTSIDE.—On 1st page, see an excellent letter from our San Francisco correspondent; also, one of 'Jacinto's' excruciating epistles. JACINTO, father of San Jacinto District, in this county, is probably domiciled, by this time, at or about St. Marys; and will be an occasional contributor to The Register as long as we've a desirable foot left, wherewithal to pay him.

THE ELECTION FOR DELEGATES to the Constitutional convention is to be held Monday next. None but the Union party has nominated. As no opposition is offered, but a light vote of that party will be out. The whole affair will go mostly by default. The people want no State government, and are disgusted with this quick repetition of the effort to foist it upon them.

FROM THE EAST.—May 27.—Grant's army was on the right bank of the North Anna, the enemy making a show of a stand. Weather intensely hot. Army but one day's forced march from Richmond, in a fine open country, but with the imminent prospect of a fight.

Banks' department shows his customary 'administrative strategy.' Troops withdrawn from Texas, and Unionists suffering from marauders and rebel conscriptions.

A dispatch from Washington, 28th, gives Conness' opinion that the final mining tax will be one-half of one per cent on bullion—collectable at the mint and assay offices. [That is fair and reasonable.]

LATEST.—Condensed from Virginia Union's telegraph.—May 29.—Sheridan, the new chief of cavalry in the Army of the Potomac, is doing good service, harassing the defenses about Richmond, capturing ferries and bridges, and destroying railroads. He seems to have everything his own way. The army had withdrawn to left bank of North Anna, but again crossed to South.

J. R. Giddings fell dead in Montreal, 27th May.

Washington, May 30.—The army had crossed the Pamunkey, and had some skirmishing. Sherman telegraphs from Dallas, Ga., that McPherson's corps had an engagement. Federal loss 300. Rebel, 2,500 killed and wounded, 300 prisoners.

Banks [Old Administrative Ability!] appointed military governor of La. Residence at N. O.

Large portion of Butler's army at Bermuda Hundred transferred, under Smith, to Grant.

Gen. Winder, in charge of the Federal prisoners lately at Richmond, has shifted to Goldsboro, N. C.

AID AGAINST THE INDIANS.—The Union says that Capt. Wells, with Co. D., Territorial Cavalry, would start yesterday, from Fort Churchill, to punish the Bannock Indians, in the Black Rock country.

FREIGHTS FROM RED BLUFF are daily arriving, and teamsters report the road in good condition by this time, with workmen constantly employed making improvements. We are reminded by forwarders at the Bluff, that we were in error in saying the Sheba mill was freighted at 11 cents per lb. It was brought at 9 cents which is a lower rate than we could have expected. On inquiry, we find that our merchants all get freights at 9 cents. We paid 11 cents, and hence our blunder speaking of things as we found them.

By-the-by, Mr. Lyon informs us that a lot of wire for the Humboldt Telegraph would be started from the Bluff this week.

THE IMMIGRATION from Europe to America was never so great as now. Last year the arrivals at New York aggregated, about this time of year, 3,000 weekly. Now, they amount to near 6,000 weekly.

'GEM OF SIERRA.'—This claim is now working with great success, under the superintendence of Mr. J. W. Carpenter. It is not yet well opened, but is turning out about 5 tuns a-week, which works $300 the tun. An effort was recently made to incorporate, in San Francisco; but the effort failed—too much stock owned by parties here, who have seen the folly of incorporating so far from the mine. The annual meeting will be held the 9th July, and proposition will then be made to incorporate under the Territorial law. Parties are now in correspondence with the Superintendent, who is a large owner, with the view to erect a mill in Sierra District, for the working of the ore from this mine. Ewing & Washburn have in their store 800 ounces bullion, yield of 3 tuns unselected ore, worked at the Lang Syne mill, this week. Next week the mill will turn out an excellent yield from 8 tuns of 'Gem,' now unloading there.

The chance is good for the 'Gem' to get a mill up this season. An excellent mill-site can be had, within 8 miles of the mine, having water of sufficient volume and fall to drive a 20-stamp mill.

REPORT FROM THE INDIAN HUNTERS.—Parties returned from Boise, via Jordan Creek, inform us that the company which started from here some weeks since found a party of Bannocks, and had a skirmish—but failed to get them into a general fight. They put the light out for two Bannocks, and received no injury in return. The only serious hurt to any of the party was the natural result of getting raw soldiers into a general fire: Frank Wheeler, Commissary, received several buckshot in one arm, and is ambulancing home for repairs. Another man was slightly shot at the same fire.

Frank's wound is attributed to accident; but we recollect that when we were Indian hunting we had not eaten much sour bacon before our mind was firmly made up to shoot the Commissary the first opportunity that occurred during an engagement.

It is reported that at the Upper Humboldt our boys fell in—with a large party of Government soldiers from Oregon.

P. S.—Geo. W. Rutherford, who came in of the guard to escort the disabled members of the party, informs us that the party continuing on the hunt were daily finding suddenly vacated camps of the Bannocks, and expected to have a good fight soon. They had provisions for about 15 days longer. Had fallen in with no Government soldiers. Found the bodies of the four men killed last month, and buried them. The bodies had been much mutilated, and a pick driven into one. One of the Indians killed in last week's fight had a shirt on with a bullet-hole in the breast, corresponding with the wound on one of the bodies buried—all of them having been stripped of all clothing.

JUDGE LOCKE'S REPLY.—The papers have charged corruption upon Judge Locke, in the matter of the late Chollar and Potosi case in the Territorial Supreme Court. At last the Judge briefly answers, in a card published in the Old Piute. We have given little heed to the whole matter, having no opportunity to get reliable information; and know not whether the card covers the whole ground and is satisfactory—but hope it does and is:

To the Public: Concerning the Chollar and Potosi cases that were determined at the last term of the Supreme Court, I will state that I had no knowledge of such cases until they were called upon the Supreme Court Calendar; that the Potosi Company nor any of its members, nor any person connected with it, directly or indirectly, ever conversed with me about the case or mentioned it in my presence, except as argued in the Supreme Court. That I ever had any complicity with the Potosi Company, is without foundation, and those who circulate such reports are guilty of wilful and deliberate falsehood and slander.
Respectfully, P. B. LOCKE.
Virginia City, May 26, 1864.

CONTEMPTIBLE FLING.—R. C. Gridley, a gentleman well known in California, has been managing the selling of the now famous sack of flour which has sold for so many thousands of dollars, for the benefit of the Sanitary Fund. He has managed it from Austin to San Francisco. The Sacramento Star intimates that he is a 'copperhead,' and not worthy to be trusted with money paid for the flour. The Virginia Union says it would have been manly justice, under all the circumstances, to have made [illegible] instead of publishing such an insinuation. The Union says true; decency would have dictated that course; but the Union might observe that decency is not a characteristic of the harpies who are thrusting themselves into prominence as the self-constituted champions of the sacred cause they so disgrace.

MINING INTERESTS are looking quite encouraging. No improvement in the prices of claims, because of the entire lack of one element to a market—the men with the money to buy; but in each of the old districts are several ledges now in so good a stage of development as to induce the hope that they will soon be regularly sending ore to the mills. The milling interest is falling far behind. Many claims would be further advanced, if the prospect for milling facilities was better. It takes money to build mills, and money is the thing lacking. No good has ever been done Humboldt but that accomplished by hard blows. The 'Sheba' company is building a fine mill at the mouth of Star creek. That will greatly encourage operations in Star and Santa Clara.

PUTTING IT LOW.—The Old Piute of the 18th made a famous blunder, when it undertook, without knowing its points, to give a statement of bullion shipments from Humboldt since 1st January. It credited us, down to 15th May, with $1,428! Grave and astute Chief! can't you get higher in figures? Piutes here can come nearer the right sum, on their fingers. Within the time you quote, the shipments through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office in Unionville alone, foot up a trifle over $15,000. The quotations from their Star and Dun Glen offices we can not give. Then, the shipments by private hands will figure up fully another $15,000.

THE LIGHTEST SITUATION YET!—Smith, of the Appeal, admits that it was his business, formerly, to write 'loyal' letters to a Copperhead paper. Did they use many such, Smith? Give any peculiar turn to the wrist, Smith, in getting up 'loyal letters' for a Copperhead paper? Ever express the opinion that 'this Administration is not likely to restore the Union,' Smith? Say anything, in any of those letters, Smith, about 'the lamented Broderick'? You would n't care, would you, Smith, to see some choice parts of those loyal letters reproduced?

A GOOD CHANGE.—The Old Piute announces the acquisition of a business man who will pay all bills. Fred Getzler, George Lewis, Wood, and Jake Reticker, will rejoice.

'CAUBLE' CO. (Union Forks), SIERRA. Shaft down 30 feet. Now taking out ore for crushing. Will send 5 tuns next week to 'Auld Lang Syne' mill.

'THE CALIFORNIA' is again at work, sinking on the ledge. Three feet width, with a large showing of rich ore. Stock owned principally in Santa Clara District.

Proceedings of the Union County Convention.

UNIONVILLE, May 28, 1864.

The Convention was called to order by Jos. M. Woodworth, Chairman of Union Central Committee.

On motion, C. B. Simmons was called to the Chair, and W. K. Parkinson appointed Secretary.

On motion, a committee consisting of Messrs. Safford, Blossom, Hanks, Ewing and Morrison, was appointed by the President to act as a committee on credentials and permanent organization.

On motion, a committee of five was appointed on resolutions, consisting of Messrs. Jones, Dunne, Woodworth, Strong and Searle.

The committee on credentials and permanent organization submitted the following report, which was adopted and the committee discharged:

Your committee on credentials and permanent organization beg leave to submit the following report. Delegates entitled to seats in the convention:

Star City—J. M. Case, O. R. Leonard, J. A. Blossom, W. F. Stevens (Blossom proxy), Alex. Wise (J. J. Dunne proxy), H. M. Zekind, D. A. McCullough, E. P. Searle, J. B. Hank (Blossom proxy), W. Henry Jones.

Humboldt City—W. J. Hanks, W. L. Woodroe (Hanks proxy), F. J. Daniels (Hanks proxy), L. C. Pease (Hanks proxy).

Dun Glen—D. Melarkey (T. Ewing proxy), J. A. Dun (T. Ewing proxy), R. Dillon (T. Ewing proxy), G. W. Noble (T. Ewing proxy), W. D. Jackson (T. Ewing proxy).

Santa Clara—C. B. Simmons, Geo. H. Farmer (Simmons proxy).

Unionville—J. M. Woodworth, E. D. Kelly, W. H. Terry, J. W. Strong, D. H. Brown, A. P. K. Safford, T. Ewing, J. H. Neale, W. K. Parkinson.

El Dorado—A. Morrison.

We would recommend C. B. Simmons for permanent Chairman and W. K. Parkinson Secretary.
A. P. K. SAFFORD, Chairman.

The committee on resolutions then offered the following report which was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, the Union Party having in Convention assembled for the purpose of nominating good, faithful and loyal men, as Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, to be voted for at the coming election; therefore,

Resolved, That our attachments for the old flag, our Country and its institutions, are strengthened by the fiery ordeal to which they have been subjected for the past three years, and we pledge ourselves to stand by the Government in its efforts to suppress the present rebellion until every rebel shall lay down his arms and yield obedience to the law.

Resolved, That we have little confidence in the patriotism or sincerity of those pretended friends of the Government who make opposition to the Administration a cause for joining hands with the enemies of our Country, and giving them aid and comfort. That it is a well-known fact that the name Democrat, now stripped of every principle which gave it life and endeared it to the American people, is being used for the base purpose of deluding and deceiving its followers, and leading them into the whirlpool of Secession, and since the rebellion broke out the leaders of that party could not have better served the Southern Confederacy, fighting in the ranks, than they have by their factious opposition to every measure of the Administration calculated to suppress the rebellion. Every honorable man would look with more favor upon him who would risk his life upon the battle field, though engaged in an unholy cause, than the person who had not the courage to risk his life, and sought by acting the traitor and spy, under the garb of friendship, to attain the same object.

Resolved, That the gigantic efforts made by our Government to suppress the rebellion and restore the Union should meet with the hearty indorsement of every loyal man, and we have an abiding confidence that our brave soldiers, with Grant for their leader, will speedily conquer a lasting peace, and that the Stars and Stripes will again float in security over every foot of the public domain.

Resolved, That while we are willing to contribute to the support of the Government our means to the extent of our ability, yet we hold it to be an unwise and injurious policy to tax the mines, for the following reasons:

1st. A tax upon the right to search for a mine would not only discourage the development of our mineral resources, but work a great hardship upon those who have done and are doing much to enrich the country.

2d. A tax upon mines after development is unjust, for the reason that the mine is only valuable for the precious metals extracted, and upon that, taxes are now paid to the same extent as profits derived from other business, any additional tax would cause an unwarranted oppression against the mining interest, when it should be the policy of our Government to foster and encourage said interest.

Resolved, That we look upon the coming political struggle as the most important ever experienced in the United States; one party, the so-called Democratic party, are for peace, which means a recognition of the Southern Confederacy, and will give us a divided and disgraced Country, neither loved nor respected at home, nor feared abroad; the other, the Union party, are pledged, let the cost be what it may, to never make terms of peace over a divided Country; we, therefore, earnestly urge upon the Union party throughout the Territory to organize in every election precinct, and commence at once to do battle for their Country and their principles.
W. HENRY JONES, Chairman Committee.

On motion, it was ordered that all candidates be required to come forward and indorse the resolutions adopted by the convention.

J. A. Banks, W. Henry Jones and E. F. Dunne were then placed in nomination for delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

On motion, the nominations were closed, and Messrs. Banks, Jones and Dunne were declared the nominees of the convention by acclamation.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed to act as a committee to raise money for the purpose of paying printing bills, and to act in connection with the Central Committee in relation to the same: O. R. Leonard, Star City, J. A. Dun, Dun Glen, W. J. Hanks, Humboldt City, Jos. M. Woodworth, Unionville, A. Morrison, El Dorado, C. B. Simmons, Santa Clara.

On motion, the convention adjourned.
C. B. SIMMONS, Chairman.
W. K. PARKINSON, Secretary.

STAR CITY is lively in appearance, though business men there indulge the same complaint so common here: 'Dull times!' A good many arrivals from California and the East, and many Sonoma camps along the creek.

Isaac Miller, proprietor of the Miller Hotel, was married Sunday evening last, by Rev. James Lassiter, a large and respectable audience witnessing the ceremony. Miller has been so infernally happy ever since, that he neglected to inform us of the former name of the unfortunate Mrs. M. There was much congratulating, and kissing, and other nonsense, and we doubt if poor Isaac did n't forget his own maiden name—things were so mixed.

Jerry, a few doors below the Miller Hotel, has a fine variety store; cigars, tobacco, blank books, confectionery, &c.

Case, just above, has accommodations for stock, and keeps saddle-horses and a turnout for the public.

Levy & Co. are receiving additions weekly to their large stock of dry goods, groceries, &c.

Luff is getting in a good stock. Is now dividing his attention between his store and a one-stamp mill next door below.

McDonald & Thorne and Dr. Davis attend to the drug and tooth business and assaying. Great demand for Thorne's purely vegetable Indian Eye Water. Four bits.

JUDGE RALSTON, formerly a resident of Quincy, Illinois, later of Sacramento, Cal., and latterly of Austin, N. T., strolled off from Austin, several weeks since, in search of a horse. Has not since been seen, except by Indians. A party went out and followed his track more than a hundred miles, but had to return for provisions! He is a feeble old man, and it is feared will not be found alive, after such privations and exposure.

EL DORADO DISTRICT.—The 'El Dorado' company is working two shifts steadily. Tunnel in 40 feet, and will strike the ledge (Banner) in 15 feet more, at a depth of 100 feet. Will then have a drift of 40 feet in the ledge, to connect with the shaft, down 160 feet.

Work will be resumed, next week, on the 'Silver Point' series.

BAD TASTE AND POOR PATRIOTISM.—The Enterprise truly says: When a man who is opposed to the Administration gives utterance to the opinion that the Southern Confederacy will ever become an established Government he is called a Copperhead. But when a supporter of the Administration admits that the failure of the present campaign may result in our Government recognizing the independence of the Confederacy, he injures our cause more than an avowed enemy could. These remarks are called forth by a letter from Frank M. Pixley to the San Francisco Bulletin, dated at Washington, April 19, an extract from which we give below. However, we never had a very exalted opinion of the patriotism of Pixley, and the sentiment of this emanation of his brain is not calculated to elevate him in our estimation:

If Richmond can not be taken this Summer, then, in the opinion of many loyal men, it will be the capital of a recognized Government. Our National debt is already a swelling total; our expenditures are immense, and, as a financial problem, this war must soon reach a solution. I think I can observe among our leading men great anxiety for the result of this campaign. Washington is full of qualified loyalty, treason in the guise of Democracy, Copperhead sympathy with the rebellion.

TWO HONEST MEN DEVELOPED.—In the late convention of the California Democracy, Zack Montgomery, in a speech, called for any Democrat who believed the war could be so conducted as to restore the Union, to rise. Old Beriah Brown rose. He would appear still more honest, if he'd quit a party which pretends to support the war, while saying it can not restore the Union. Then, a war platform was adopted by these disbelievers in the war—Zack Montgomery alone voting against it. The two men voted as they think; but they might better quit the company of those who serve the occasion with hollow pretense.

'THE EVENING STAR' is having three tuns of ore worked at Fall's mill. It is very rich, and considerable speculation has been indulged, as to the return. The ledge is three feet width, and the metal lying in every part. It is a splendid thing, and we hope will be made to contribute regularly to the bullion shipments. It is a long drive from any mill, or it could be sending thousands every week.

FURNITURE.—See Maclean's epistle to the furnitureless. No need of sitting around with your backs humped up, punching yourselves to death with the upper ends of stool legs, when Mac. offers cane-bottom chairs at a trifling advance on nothing and freight.

BET YOUR MONEY ON IT.—The Red Bluff Independent, speaking of the road from Red Bluff to this county, says:

Another year will witness a huge amount of freight passing over this route, as Humboldt is bound to come up, and take the palm from Washoe. Already many of the Reese River and Virginia City people are directing their steps to Humboldt. The erection of the Sheba mill will open a new era in Humboldt, and show the world that the Gould & Curry is a child compared to the Sheba.

CANDID.—Winn, the Virginia restaurant man, advertises in the Gold Hill Message

'Nothing like good Living!'

That's what we found at the International, when Winn kept it.

THE PRESS.—The Reese River Reveille is now a daily, considerably increased in size, handsomely made up, and published by J. D. Fairchild & Co. Jo. is a good boy, and a good printer. We wish him abundant success.

Stewart, of New York, and Commodore Vanderbilt, have each given $100,000 towards the Sanitary Fund.—News-Letter.

DIED.

In Virginia, N. T., May 27th, 1864, of brain fever, CHARLES SCHIEFFER, of Coloma, El Dorado county, Cal., aged 42 years.

Deceased will be remembered by many citizens as having visited this county some weeks since, and taken sick during his stay. He determined, contrary to advice of friends, to undertake the trip back to Virginia, while yet unimproved in health. The rough weather and the fatigues of a tedious stage ride did him no good: and after he had suffered intensely for many days, Death came, with cool compassion, and ended all. Deceased had been a resident of Coloma during the past fifteen years, and no citizen of the place was held in better esteem. He leaves an excellent, devoted wife, and two infant children; and may they receive the especial care of Him who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, and is the hope and reliance of the widow and the fatherless.

Sweeps through the halls so late so fair I In mirth,
And leaves pale Sorrow weeping by the hearth!'

[Fifty] 2 corner lots can be drawn by lottery, at $20 per lot; 200 inside lots can be drawn at $10 per lot, by all [who] may wish to engage in such an enterprise, for luck. To the Democrats of Humboldt Cou[nty]

OFFICE OF THE DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
Unionville, N. T., May, 1864.

By an act of Congress and under a proclamation of the Governor of Nevada Territory, you are called to vote on the 6th day of June, 1864, for delegates to frame another constitution for the State of Nevada.

Not being content with the overwhelming defeat of the constitution met at the hands of the people on the [19th] of January last, the Administration and its allies, the Abolition Union Party, are determined to force us into a State organization nolens volens, hoping thereby to strengthen the waning power of the Republican [party] in the next Presidential contest.

We respectfully suggest that the Democratic party refrain from all participation in the June election. [Let] the opposition elect their delegates, frame another and infamous constitution, and we will meet them at the polls upon the question of its ratification or rejection.

3-4t Chairman Dem. Central Comm[ittee].

STAR ITEMS.—Three Bannock Indians were killed up at the head of the ditch, last week, by the Piutes. The Bannocks came into their camp—they held a talk, which resulted in the verdict: 'Bannocks no good.' Sentence of death was passed and carried out by beating them to death with stones.

A company of cavalry, from Fort Boise, is scouring the country in the vicinity of the Owyhee, with orders to take no prisoners.

The workmen on the 'Yosemite' have uncovered a ledge five feet in width, with a two feet vein of mineral running through it. Their tunnel is in 97 feet. The work is carried on under the supervision of Mr. W. W. Woodman.

Work in the Star tunnel has commenced, and is driving ahead rapidly; in about 20 feet.

Nearly all the lumber for the 'Sheba' mill has been delivered, and workmen are busy getting it into shape for erection.

Notwithstanding the great influx of strangers, and the return of old citizens, still there is a great dearth of news. I can not say it is lively; neither will it be till something happens to 'mitigate the reverse.'

The first installment of Luff's large stock of goods has arrived.

W. W. Williams has also returned from San Francisco, where he has been laying in a large stock of goods which he is daily expecting to arrive.

W. H. Thatcher has just arrived from a prospecting expedition to Jordan and Goose Creeks. Haven't had a chance to get any items from him; from appearances, though, I should judge that Jordan Creek and Goose Creek were rather hard places. ¶

Summons.

[INTERNAL REVENUE STAMP, 50c, ATTACHED.]

IN THE PROBATE COURT, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT, Territory of Nevada.
ELIZABETH MEADOR, Plaintiff, vs. WILLIAM MEADOR, Defendant.

The people of the Territory of Nevada send greeting to William Meador: You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the Probate Court in and for the county of Humboldt, Territory of Nevada, to answer the complaint therein within ten days, exclusive of the day of service, after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but within this judicial district, within twenty days; or, if served out of said district, then within forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to dissolve the bonds of matrimony existing between you and said plaintiff, and to have said plaintiff restored to her maiden name upon the grounds, as alleged in the said complaint, of cruel and inhuman treatment, and neglect to provide the necessaries of life for two years last past, on your part, when such neglect is not on account of poverty, which ordinary industry could not avoid.

And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein.

{L. S.} Given under my hand and the seal of the Probate Court in and for the county of Humboldt, Territory of Nevada, this ninth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

8-4t W. K. PARKINSON, Clerk.

IMPROVED STAMP SHOES.—Mr. G. W. Coffee, of the Union Foundry, Aurora, has made application for a patent for an improvement in the casting of stamp shoes, which is done by casting a very small shoe, which, after it is cold, is set inside of a cast iron chill, or mould, and the large shoe cast around it. An advantage of this method is that the metal cools both from the inside and outside, leaving no chance for the hot metal inside to shrink and crack after the outside is cold. Another advantage is that the iron after cooling is left much harder than when cast in the ordinary way. We are informed that some shoes cast on the above plan in the Union Foundry have been running steadily for ten weeks in the Bodie mill, whereas the average duration of shoes cast on the old plan is about five weeks.—Esmeralda Union.

MONTANA.—Washington correspondence of the Stockton Independent says that the bill to organize the new Territory of Montana is in a very precarious position, as the House has positively refused to adopt the Senate amendment to allow all persons of whatever color, to vote at the first election, and have instructed a special committee not to agree to any other clause than that 'free white male citizens are to vote,' etc. This, it is thought, will have the effect of killing the bill.

'Pray, my lord,' said a gentleman to a rather whimsical judge, 'what is the distinction between law and equity courts?'
'Very little in the end,' replied his lordship; 'they only differ so far as time is concerned. At common law, you are done for at once; in equity, you are not so easily disposed of. The one is prussic acid, the other laudanum.

The following celebrities arrived in San Francisco, Tuesday evening, on the Golden City: J. B. Frisbie, Judge Hagar, O. W. Holmes (?), Dr. Vallejo, C. B. Louzee.—Solano Herald.
The latter has come through to Silverland. Saw him manipulating the inner surface of a shirt he had borrowed of Nesens or some other unfortunate.

QUITE TOO POLITE.—A cotemporary, quoting the expression of that blinded soldier whose hat was cut in two, quoted it 'H——!' instead of Hell. It reminds us of the preacher 'in Illinois,' who warned his flock to reform, lest they die in their sins 'and be cast into that place of punishment not proper to be here mentioned.'

A little Hoosier boy of five years old asked his mother if God really heard his prayer. 'Yes, my son,' she replied, 'God always hears our prayers.' 'Well,' said the mischievous urchin, 'I think he must be disgusted with mine, for he has heard the same old prayer ever since I could talk.'

The following days of the week were set apart for public worship, in different nations: Sunday, or the Lord's day, by Christians; Monday, by the Grecians; Tuesday, by the Persians; Wednesday, by the Assyrians; Thursday, by the Egyptians; Friday, by the Turks; and Saturday, by the Jews.

General George W. Bickley claims in his diary to have been the father of Rebellion. We hear nothing about its mother. In truth it never was worth a dam.—Pacific.

A RHYME FOR THE TIME.
BY GEORGE W. CURTIS.

There was an old man who said, 'How Shall I manage this horrible cow?
I will sit on the stile
And continue to smile,
Which may soften the heart of the cow.'

'It is a most excellent way:
If the way is not good
My name is not Wood,'
I heard the pure patriot say.

BEYROOT (Syria), Nov. 28, 1863.

As I did not find time to write you from Damascus, I will tell you of our trip from here, after an absence of eleven days. Up at two o'clock, the morning of the 18th, through winding streets, growled at by surly dogs, squinted at by promiscuous sleepers, whose bed it seems is where night overtakes them, following the flickering lantern of our Arab escort, and our bags, we reach the diligence office, are assigned our places in the diligence, and with a flourish of the whip, such as drivers delight to give, are under way at four o'clock, drawn by six horses, three abreast. Like a beacon-light, shone the morning star, and the whole heavens twinkled with lesser lights. At that early hour, the highway was lined with camels, donkeys and men, coming to market. Daylight appeared but to disclose a most barren country—one continuous ledge of rock, often the high hills terraced from base to summit, and the narrow bands of made earth, covered with fruit trees, or awaiting a crop. The crooked-stick plows, drawn by calves, a calf and donkey, or a cow, guided by a rope, were seen here and there, barely scratching the ground, through the loose covering of stones. The seed which the sower scattered broadcast, literally fell upon stony places, where there was not much depth of earth—it seemed to me doubtful, if enough to take root. There are seen a few scattering villages of the Druses and Maronites as peacefully dotted side by side, as if there were no wrangling hatred, one for the other, a pent up fire of envy and jealousy, that is liable to burst forth at any moment, to the destruction of lives and property. The Maronites are the so-called Christians, with whom the French took sides, and the Druses, heathens, with whom England sympathized. Judging from their deeds, I think one as deserving the name as the other.

The whole land is checked with footpaths, as a map with lines; people are following in them, hither and thither, whence they come, or whither go, none can tell. We wonder that they cling to old land-marks, instead of coming into the highway of civilization, the broad, graded, macadamized road that leads direct; but the query is solved, when we consider that this is the enterprise of a French company, who justly claim a round toll. The line, which runs a daily diligence, has only been established about a year, but has made what was once considered a laborious journey a pleasant day's ride of sixty-five miles, at a cost of five dollars. Up, up over the rugged lights of Mount Lebanon, changing horses every few miles, till ten o'clock, when we descend into the wide valley of Buka-a-bhere, where we stop at a little French inn one-half hour for refreshments, enough to supply the keen demands of appetite, which they say is good as a feast.

Night closed in upon us before we reached Damascus, and when we arrived, we believed that we were only halting to make our eleventh change of horses. All about was silence and darkness, not a sound of busy life, nor a gleaming light to tell that a great city was at hand. So silent is the world without the gates of an Eastern city, that but for the barking of dogs, one might well fancy himself in the desert wilds. Arab lanterns in the hands of Arabs, soon take to themselves shape, a few closely folded layers spin out a long, translucent, illuminated sack, which we follow through winding streets, dark and drear, to formidable walls, where an open door receives us, not the broad, heavy one, that rarely swings on its hinges, except to admit laden camels, but a little center opening in the large one, through which you stoop to pass—the eye to the needle; and now that the parable is reduced to a practical illustration, it does not enhance the rich man's chances for a place in Heaven. We find ourselves in a fairy-like enclosure; but will take our dinner and night's rest, and in the morning start upon our Oriental explorations. First with our hotel:

We enter from the street, a small, open court, a fountain in the center—the walls painted with broad stripes of red, white and blue, through a door, into a second and much larger court, walls painted like the first, pavement black and white marble, a large fish-pond in the center, fed by running faucets, with fountains at either end, and large orange trees, laden with golden fruit, and sweet-smelling flowers. One side a deep, alcoved recess, the raised floor spread with mats and divans, inviting for an afternoon siesta. Opposite is the parlor—on either side of the door the same deep niches that we see in the court, the floor raised two steps, is covered with Persian carpets. The very high ceiling is finished in Mosaic, the walls painted gaily, a favorite pattern, festoons of flowers and vines arranged on the wall to represent windows—of which there are but two, looking into the court. Divans surround the walls, and Boston rockers recall to mind 'Old Lang Syne.' Marble tables in the center, with astral lamps, which serve for illuminators at night, and you have the inventory of furnishing.

In the marble paved passage, between the two side niches, is a running fountain. In the wall opposite the door is a deep niche, wherein stands a mirror, and on either side, in lesser ones, are placed narghiles, silver and amber mouth-pieces, delicate little coffee cups and silver holders, ready for use when friends happen in. Our dining-room is off from the same court, and none the less Oriental in its arranging, as well as the bountifully spread table, arrayed adown its center with luscious fruits of the land, grapes, oranges and pomegranates. Stone steps lead up to a balcony, around which are our bed-rooms, neat and comfortable, and within sound of falling waters to lull us to sleep. Our Grecian host dresses true to his nationality, as does his pretty Greek wife. We take coffee or tea and bread at eight o'clock, breakfast at eleven o'clock, and dinner at seven. Now we will go forth into the city, and halt, first at the horse-market near at hand, a large, open square, with a raised platform in the centre, upon which are grouped, perhaps, judges, who decide upon the blood and speed of the animals that prance back and forth. They take it easy, they chat, drink coffee, and bring forth, after much coaxing, curling clouds of perfumed smoke.

We could as readily believe our eyes, that we are looking down upon an animated flower-garden of poppies, hollyhocks, and sun-flowers, as upon a square acre of humanity. The red fez predominates, as a center-piece, upon the top of the head, and is variously wound about, according to the rank or position of the person, with ample folds of red, white, blue, green and yellow cloth. There is the tasselled fez unadorned, and the large, gay-colored, striped or black silk, or cotton handkerchief of the Bedouin put over the head, a folded half square, and tied about with a rope, a cord, or skein of bright colored yarn. These are the first specimens that we have seen of the real Bedouin, the wild men of the desert, whose dark faces and black, flashing eyes, make us content to keep our distance. Sole inheritors of all the rags of past generations, which they proudly wrap about them as their looms, they could not present a greater medley of pieces and colors. Not a few are girded about the loins with skins, their heads bound around with ropes. Their usual dress, however, is a loose shirt, reaching midway below the knees, fastened around the waist, and a loose over-garment of coarse wool, striped black and white, wadded under the arm, or dragging along upon the ground. Their feet, if covered, scuff along in low boots, the sole jetting out like an eaves spout, and turning up at the toe like a scow boat.

Now rides by on a gaily caparisoned horse, a sheik of his tribe, known as such by the weapons of defense that lie and his train carry—a spear fifteen feet long, poised in air, battle-axes, old inlaid pistols, their belts stuffed out with silver-mounted daggers and pistols. Our astonished gaze at them was equaled by their surprise at seeing us; bids grew less animated while we tarried; they neither laughed nor talked, but gave an occasional deep, gutteral grunt, and a significant glance at each other, as much as to say: 'there is no use, we have no words in our vocabulary that will do them justice.' When they passed, and our crinoline yielded to the pressure, it was evident that they were more than ever at a loss to give us a place in the human scale, and looked around upon their own tattooed, brown women, their forms but half concealed, with evident satisfaction that they were not as we. Woman's curiosity so far predominated over the shy indifference of one, that she seized me to institute an investigation of my person and clothes; she felt of my hands and face as if I were wax, and she would be responsible if I cracked under her touch, possibly she felt a sympathy for me in my frailty, not less than I for her in her degradation and filth; her hair matted, a graduated band of coins pendant upon her forehead, cheeks tattooed, nose set with jewels put in with screws, arms half covered with the one loose, tattered garment, loaded with heavy, silver bracelets.

But we must hasten, the interests of Damascus are not concentrated in Bedouins. I thought we should be prepared for the most curious sights, but what we have had before, so blended with the European, can scarcely be considered a foretaste, compared with those purely Oriental surroundings. Truly do we feel that the magic portals of the East are opened unto us, and now we have but to wonder and wander. It seems to me that months could not exhaust the curiosities of the streets, which are but a net-work of intricate windings, crowded, packed, fortunately not with people who have Broadway ideas of speed, but with a plodding set, content to be borne along with the tide. There is a tinkling of bells. Make way for the little donkey, which, though he speaks to you with the pathos of Balaam's ass, you heed not, is the forerunner of greater things to come—of camels, moving straight on, which, howsoever imbued with the spirit of politeness, are unable to turn a hair's breadth to right or left, for the dripping water skins; pigs and goats just escape a grazing. The multitude take the chances of edging their way along by them, but we turn ourselves into impromptu Turks, by springing on a platform of one of the bazaar niches, to the amusement of the statuesque proprietor, who sits with his legs tied in a double bow, in the center of his carpeted shop, the picture of resignation and hope, awaiting the providential coming of a customer.

These bazaars are so dark that when we first enter, we can, with difficulty, distinguish one face from another; some have a high thatched roof, and others are covered over with rags, hung across on poles. But within these dingy alleys and sombre niches, ranged along on either side, more like impromptu stalls than anything else, are found the riches of the whole East—the silks of India and shawls of Cashmere, the carpets of Persia, with spices and perfumes from Araby. Every branch of labor is open to your inspection, for, if not carried on out of doors, you have but to cross the threshold of the ever open door to see swarthy, turbaned figures squatting over their work; even at blacksmithing they sit around the forge, one works a skin bellows as you would blow a bag-pipe, and the other wields the anvil, but when it comes to shoeing a horse, the trying moment comes that brings them to the feet. But they shuffle off the work very much as if they were out of their element. There is no paring of hoof, but a round bit of iron is placed on the bottom of the foot and clinched in place by long iron thongs.

Carpenters do their work in a no less original style, all ranged along in file, upon raised platforms—a set of squatters. They plane a board, arms' length by arms' length, holding it with their toes, and occupying days in making a wooden screw each spiral turn cut out by hand, and feet are equally brought into service. There is a click, click, as of machinery. We peep in upon a weaver of silk scarfs, one of the specialties of the place. He sits upon the edge of a hole dug in the floor, and plies the treadles of strings. The beams over which the web runs are held up by posts driven in the ground, raised not six inches. The warp which is not spread but for immediate use, is tied in a large dangling ball, and is unwound and woven on as it is required. Winding of silk and cotton is going on all along the street. The skeins hang on pins driven in the walls of the houses. In the saddle manufactory bazaar we linger to see the skill with which men and even boys crochet with gold and silver thread and bright silk, saddle cloths and head pieces. Little beyond, there is the same stitching and ornamenting going on, to make gay the gondola-shaped red and yellow slippers of the belles of the city. You wonder what they do with their henna-stained fingers, if men's hands are turned to such account. So do I query continually. They only appear to us as walking ghosts, wrapped in sheets from head to feet, their faces completely concealed from view by muslin handkerchiefs of bright color and large print.

Surely, speaking of women has not suggested it, but I must not forget to tell you of a school that we stepped into—a dirty, dark little hole. The master spread out at full length on the floor smoking, and a dozen boys ranged round him shouting at a mark. You would have fancied, the premium to be awarded to the one who pitched the highest. They had no books, but sat swaying and shrieking unceasingly. Our curiosity was satisfied in a very short time; and as we turned to go out, up rose master and boys, and with outstretched hands demanded bakshish! It seems as if there is no end to these dark winding ways, and each having a specialty. Your curiosity never wanes. Now we dodge through a low doorway, and there is such a clicking of hammers and blinding of smoke that we can easily imagine ourselves in the grand work shop of Vulcan. It is the silversmith bazaar; a large area covered over with a vaulted roof supported here and there by an ancient column. Each workman, and perhaps there are fifty, sits on his own mud heap forge, crooked over a miniature furnace of glowing coals, on which is bubbling a few melted globules of precious ore. He leaves his work and reaches out to a little box, securely locked, opens up to you his ready stock; there are all sorts of ornaments enriched by settings of precious stones, but that which is most lovely in your eyes is the filagree silver work. Coffee-cup holders and bracelets, delicate as if the finely spun thread had been woven. They thrust antiquities at you and have a merry time trying to convince you that they are genuine. You know at once that you are not in the presence of staid Mussulmen, whose faces rarely light up with an attempted joke. All these artists and workmen are Christians.

Yours, MARY J. SAFFORD.

It is said that Bonner, of the New York Ledger, expended $30,000 in one day's advertising, having given $5,000 each to six of the leading papers in the United States. The advertising consisted of three or four lines, repeated all over three or four pages. And he says that the vast investment repaid him.

Yankee notions says the language an Arabian child speaks before it cuts its teeth, is gum-Arabic unquestionably.

A RICH STRIKE!
WHO WILL BUY A CHANCE?
THE Mill City and Water Company have duly incorporated, and laid out a town, and named it Mill City. It is located at the terminus of the great Humboldt Canal, in Humboldt county N. T., and where 40 or 80 mills will be located. The water afforded by the canal will all be used at, and within the limits of Mill City. The company has already procured the purest soft water in abundance, within the city limits, for culinary and other purposes.
For a full and perfect description of Mill City, its advantages for location health, beauty and future prospects, the reader is especially referred to the prospectus and map, a copy of which will be found with each of the following agents, to-wit: O R. Leonard, of Star, in Star District; Thos. A. Freeman, Unionville, Buena Vista District; E. W. Councilman, Dun Glen, Sierra District; and L. E. Ritter, of San Francisco, Cal. C. W. Shaug and J. A. Alguier, agents for Humboldt county, N. T.
Said company are now ready to sell lots on terms so favorable, that a rapid growth in population and wealth must ensue. C. W. Shaug will be at the company's office in Mill City, on Monday, of each week, where all persons desiring to purchase an interest in said town can do so; and also examine the city, the water, and other advantages, that no other point possesses. 200 No. 2 corner lots can be drawn by lottery, at $20 per lot, and 200 inside lots can be drawn at $10 per lot, by all that may wish to engage in such an enterprise, for luck. All said lots will be equally selected, in point of value and location, or others can select the choice for higher figures.
P. S.—Reader, do n't forget to carefully examine our City Prospectus.
C. W. SHAUG, Pres't.

There are only two sides to the question.—Every man must be for the United States or against it. There can be no neutrals in this war—only patriots or traitors.—DOUGLAS.

TAKE NOTICE!—All mining notices and other Legal Advertising, to appear in these columns, must be Pre-paid. Secretaries will do well to make the necessary arrangements with their companies.

SAN FRANCISCO ADVERTISERS are referred to L. P. FISHER, Agent, 628 Washington street—nearly opposite Maguire's Opera House.

San Francisco Carrier.—JOHN P. LARRABEE, 514 Montgomery street, corner of Commercial, will deliver The Register to any address in the city.

THANKS.—To Wells, Fargo & Co., for prompt delivery of letters and papers.

To E. Lobenstein, for regular files of Virginia papers.

CORRESPONDENCE.

PERSPIRATION, Prince Royal.—Did n't send your real name. That 's what 's the matter.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—Shall we celebrate it? High time some movement were made to that end, unless it is to go by default.

LOCUSTS swarm along the roads and over the mountains, keeping the air in a constant buzz, when the sun shines.

BULLION.—Ewing & Washburn shipped Monday, by Wells, Fargo & Co., 1,720 ounces: value, $1,927 —product of 'Gem' and 'Evening Star' ores.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER to-day has some interesting remarks on stock matters, also quotation of bids for Sheba ores shipped to Liverpool.

STRATMAN, San Francisco newsdealer, sends his customary budget of eastern newspapers and pictorials—also Harper's Magazine for June.

BLOSSOM'S STAGE continues to make its regular tri-weekly trips, and occasionally a betweener. Runs Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays—J. A. Blossom, Conductor.

NEW ARRIVAL.—Ewing & Washburn have received, this week, large supplies of blasting-powder, fuse, steel, and all articles needed by miners—the which have been notably scarce, during the past four weeks.

ROWELL, with his whiskers, paid us a brief visit, Thursday, but disappeared suddenly, on Blossom's stage for Star—excusing himself by alleging that Wells and Fargo are both in the East, and he 's kept very busy.

FREIGHTS arriving by the bushel—no, ton. Long strings of wagons—[where they 're properly stretched out]—and that 's about the only sign of life in the streets. The mining interest receives its proper attention, but all the towns are horribly dull.

THE STREETS in the Lower Town would be vastly improved by residents turning out, some odd day, and tossing out a few tons of loose bowlders. As we are probably the only one without sin among you, we're willing, any time the game 's made up, to throw the first stone.

WILD FLOWERS.—Talk about sterile mountains and alkali plains! The showers which have fallen so plentifully this season have had the effect of bringing to the surface a greater variety of beautiful wild flowers than we ever beheld in the famed prairies of the West—and we 've been over them a good deal.

THE ROADS.—Under Terry's superintendence, the street is straightening through the old adobe yard, and assuming a very different shape. We believe it is the intention to put a large proportion of the work on the road route surveyed between this and Echo. The road between Upper and Lower Town would be much improved, by putting through down by Lark's fence—from which it ought never to have been taken.

F. C. AYRES and Fox of Jesse set out, Wednesday, for a pleasure trip to the Jordan Creek and Boise mines. They were well equipped with shotguns and pistols, and Frank carried, besides, several paint brushes and some other colors of an intention to make his mark in that section. We have engaged a correspondent, who is of the party, and will have frequent letters for publication—if nothing fails.

THE ELECTION, Monday, for delegates to the constitutional convention, went, as we predicted, almost by default. The people don't want a State, and on that one reason take no interest in the framing of a constitution—intending to vote it down, when presented, on the ground of insufficient resources to demand and sustain a State government. The Union ticket received almost all of the few votes cast, and the Humboldt delegation is composed as follows: E. F. Dunne, James A. Banks, and W. H. Jones.

HUMBOLDT SULPHUR.—Dixon & Co., of Humboldt City, own the sulphur deposit announced by us as having been discovered last year about two miles from that place. Last week they sent a load of sulphur to Carson—3,300 lbs. of it; the first ever shipped, we believe, from the county. There is an immense body of this mineral; and as only two men are interested it will undoubtedly make them a fortune. A sample of sulphur from this mine now before us burns, in the flame of a match, exactly the same as that you used when you last had the itch.

DID YOU OBSERVE?—Martin, a few doors above the Plaza, Star City, announces, in our advertising columns, his willingness, in consideration of the dull times, to dispose of portions of his excellent stock of goods, for cash:

And—Luff & McColley, fronting on that same Star plaza, have what you may call a complete miner's store; one door north of Luff's mill; and offer a reward to any one who will name an article of merchandise in their line that they haven't for sale.

PUEBLA DOINGS.—Judge Carter furnishes us the following items from this remote district:

Major Norman, who was at one time reported lost, murdered, and drowned, has arrived in the town of Pueblo, all right. The town has bright prospects of a rapid growth. Newcomers arriving almost daily. Several wagons on the way to Pueblo, with lumber, goods, and a 5-stamp quartz mill—the latter to be put up and at work this season.

Many ranches located in the district. Grass, magnificent. [Judge, save us a few lots, and we 'll trade Lancaster for them.]

GRASS VALLEY NATIONAL.—We 're not much addicted, lately, to political discussion. Are somewhat in the condition of that clerk in Washington—have a pretty good thing, and do n't mean to neglect it for outside affairs. But, when we do discuss politics, or anything else, Byrne suits us for 'the party of the second part'—being, by instinct and habit, a gentleman. We had laid aside a recent copy of his paper, in which he replies to our query if he could stand the present Democratic organization and creed, as eliminated at San Francisco last month. He says he can and will; although the material put forward does not in all respects suit him. He will permit us to draw it stronger, and say that we know he loathes the main portion of the creed, and the men advancing it. His hatred of 'Abolitionism' leads him into fellowship with the opposite extreme, which now has its head and front in Richmond—receiving aid and comfort, as occasion permits, from the very heart of the organization Byrne has permitted himself to be drawn into.

He presumes we call ourself 'a war Democrat.' We take precious little care of what we call ourself, in that respect, or of what others call us. We 're for the war, and don 't agree exactly with any of the political parties. Not agreeing with either, we act a different part from our friend Byrne, and keep aloof from both. He says the war is inconsistent with Democracy. We think differently; but that were a long discussion, so we 'll not engage in it; but agree that if Democracy is faithfully presented by the old Gwinites of California, the war is inconsistent with it; and if there can be no Democracy outside of that fold, Heaven save us from Democracy! There are many more, in California as well as in this Territory, who think as we do. Some choose to serve the time, outwardly; we do not. We have no quarrel with men for opinion's sake, and, satisfied that we are right, are content to bide our time. As to the war in the abstract, we are for it, to the bitter end. As to the political purposes which some mean to make the war subserve, we are opposed to them. Those who recognize that the war was forced upon the Government, and who are with the Government in meeting war with war, will all have a voice in the settlement, when the insolent foe shall have been subdued. Those who are opposed to the war, and who are the coadjutors of the enemy, must of necessity subside with that enemy when the day of our rejoicing comes—the dawn of which is even now on us.

SHUT OFF HIS SPREADING.—A peaceable citizen of a quiet town in a frontier country had a passing fair daughter. The daughter had numerous admirers, who had recourse to divers ways of manifesting their admiration. Some threw soft glances, some danced with her; and one, having a sweet voice, sung songs to her while his rivals slept. These songs disturbed the old gentleman—the peaceable citizen of the frontier town aforementioned. One day after enduring a musical night with little sleep, he took occasion in the presence of him of the sweet voice, many others hearing, to express himself in this wise: 'It 's devilish funny, and I don't understand it; that the boys, every time they get drunk, come and sing their miserable songs under my window.' Many here witness throughout the town to that the old gentleman said; and no midnight song has since bewitched the atmosphere of that residence.

THE STOCK BOARD BURLESQUE.—It has been proposed to organize a stock board here. Nobody here has money, and all have feet as the sands of the desert. 'No takers' would be an item in each record of the board's performances. From a San Francisco paper we clip the following table, stating the 'situation' in the Silver Mountain board—Alpine county, Cal. It would be the same here. Isn't it a complete cob-house affair?

REPORT of the Silver Mountain Stock and Exchange Board—MAY 15, 1864:

RED BLUFF AND CHICO FREIGHTS AND ROADS.—Last week we replied to letters received from Red Bluff, correcting our statement about the price of freight from that town to the Sheba mill-site. In that notice we explained how we had been led into the mistake of naming 11 cents as the price of freight, when it is but 9. In to-day's issue will be found an item from the Independent on the same subject, with a reply from Nourse, of Chico. Now we 're out of the ring in this business; and don't want Nourse, nor Bishop, nor Chalmers, nor any o' their bloody teamsters, to shake their muddy —looks at us. We 're in for cheap freights, come what route they may.

THE PRESS.—The Aurora Times discontinues, for the present, its daily issue, relapsing into a weekly; promising to stand by for a renewal of the daily as soon as business shall improve.

The Old Piute sets us right on the blunder the Message led us into—stating that Platt had become interested in that establishment. There is some hope for Platt yet.

'The Californian' is a new literary paper, published at San Francisco by C. H. Webb.

SHORT DRESSES.—The Trinity Journal favors them, giving a considerable article to that purpose. Why not commence at home, and get Mrs. Gordon to set the ladies a pattern? If you can't persuade her into the new movement you 've a very poor show to argue other men's wives into it. Leastways, that's how it strikes us.

Speaking of short dresses—Lisle Lester, of the Atlantic Monthly, wears them, and acknowledges to big feet. Almost any other woman, sustained by Fashion, would wear a long dress, lest 'er 3.29-s would n't find takers.

THE BODY OF JUDGE BALSTON was found by the party which went out from Austin in search for him. According to information from Indians, and the best calculation that could be made, the Judge had been dead about fifteen days. Had been buried by the Indians, to prevent coyotes from disfiguring the body. He had wandered about 250 miles, in a southeasterly direction.

ADAM ISAACS &c. left Newell, at Panama, and sloped with Jim Barclay—[c-l-a-y, Old Pi,] who was never City Marshal of Marysville. Orpheus said Brigham Young might be called a married man—very much married. Orpheus isn't so much married as he was.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.—IV.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3, 1864.

The close of last week witnessed another sudden and extraordinary collapse in a number of first-class mining stocks. The decline was so rapid and unexpected in Gould & Curry and Ophir that the entire market was for the moment paralyzed, and remains so to some extent up to this present time. Twenty-five feet of Gould & Curry were thrown upon the market, and in a few moments fell from $3,950 (the current rate of the previous day) to $3,400—rallying a little afterwards to $3,500, and closing to-day at $2,800. Ophir dropped from $1,200 to $950, and has since been offered at $820. Various theories are assigned for this break-down in these hitherto substantial stocks. The Gould & Curry mine is said to be (on the highest authority) yielding more bullion than ever, and in all respects to show a greater prospective value than at any previous period. After paying the dividend of $125 per foot for the last month, a surplus of $50,000 is left in bank to their credit. In the face of these very favorable features, this stock has declined $2,200 per foot since January last, and $3,500 per foot since July last. The depression in all other stocks finds a solution in this serious decline; and there would seem to be now a total lack of confidence in the stability or intrinsic value of nearly every mining share known in this market. The sales at the different Boards, this week, are very trifling; but a slight reaction in the general market is observable. Since this fresh panic has occurred, nearly all borrowers of money on mining stock collateral have been called upon to pay up; and in many instances are unable to respond without making great sacrifices. There is no absolute scarcity of money in the hands of capitalists; on the contrary, unemployed funds have been accumulating for some time past.

IMMENSE YIELD FROM SHEBA ORES.

Your correspondent dropped in upon the Secretary of the Sheba company, a few days since, to inquire if any returns had been received from the ore sent to Europe last November, when he was shown the genuine document, of which the following is a copy—it being an extract from the letter of Robert Rodgers & Co., of Liverpool, England, to their house in San Francisco, Messrs. Rodgers, Meyer & Co., dated March 30th, 1864:

'We are extremely happy to report that since addressing you last, we have been offered at the rate of £374 0s per ton (dry weight) for the lot marked 'H, silver ores,' ex Darien; also at the rate of £125 11s per ton for the 93 bags ex same vessel; and at the rate of £178 18s per ton for the 14 bags ex Corinthian, all for account of the Sheba company; and which proposals therefor, if not severally enhanced within the present week, we shall accept finally; the respective prices being, as we understand from our neighbors, Messrs. Graham, Kelly & Co (who have extensive dealings in similar ores from Chili), extremely favorable for such sample lots as now presented to our purchasers—for the reason that these small parcel's are more troublesome than profitable to all concerned, on this side; especially as none of our large smelters will even make an offer for them. So that were it not for the hope and expectation that these trials will be followed up by other and more extensive shipments in the future, we would feel disposed to decline them, particularly as it is almost impossible to give satisfaction to both parties (the sellers or shippers and purchasers), owing to the paucity of each lot offered—whilst no smelter will reduce such ores on our account—thus placing us in a very serious dilemma, between our desire to serve our friends honorably and well, as contrasted with the difficulty of its accomplishment.'

The foregoing extract is in the highest degree encouraging, and there can no longer be any doubt of the intrinsic wealth of the Sheba mine. It would appear that less than 100 sacks of ore is rather a smaller quantity than the smelters of Liverpool are disposed to bid upon. The gentlemanly Secretary of the Sheba company informs me that it is their intention to ship to Europe, this Summer, no less than 3,000 sacks of ore far superior to the lots spoken of above. Will not that open the Britishers' eyes? It is likely that they will then be happy to send in proposals. Sheba will, doubtless, become a dividend-paying mine, ere the year closes.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A few nights since one of the largest whales ever seen on this coast drifted ashore on the beach, about three miles south of the Ocean House road. His whaleship is some 80 feet in length, and has been visited by a large number of persons.

The fortifications on Angel Island are rapidly approaching completion, and a number of 10-inch columbiads have been placed in position. The first gun from these batteries was fired yesterday.

A number of frightful murders have occurred lately in this city. On Sunday night several Chinamen, on Commercial street, indulged in a free fight; and iron bars, clubs, knives and swords were indiscriminately used—resulting in the death of two and the maiming of several. The floor of the house in which this bloody scene was enacted resembled that of a slaughter house.

The Bank Exchange Billiard Saloon was opened a few days ago, after an interregnum of several months. It has undergone a complete renovation, and presents now a very attractive appearance; $10,000 have been expended in decorating the ceilings and walls and in refitting every appurtenance to the room in gorgeous style.

One of the most pleasant places of resort near the city—'The Willows'—and which has for some time past been almost deserted, because of the destruction of the Hotel buildings by fire—will soon resume its former gayety and cheerfulness. The owners of the ground are erecting a splendid new structure, three stories high, to cover an immense area, with a colonnade encircling the entire building. The old Museum building has been torn down, and the Minstrel Hall is undergoing repairs.

A complete prostration of Telegraph Hill is now underway, south from Montgomery and west from Lombard street. On the latter street a grade is being cut through the hill to Stockton street; and on Montgomery street, immense excavations are in progress.

The famous 'Grisley' sack of flour was sold and resold at the Metropolitan Theater, on Saturday night last, for the benefit of the Sanitary Fund, and realized some $2,800.

The annual exercises of the City College and the City Female Seminary have been held this week, and were largely attended. These institutions are regarded with commendable pride by all classes. Arrangements have been made for the delivery of a series of literary and scientific lectures the ensuing Summer, which are to be open to the public.

A California celebrity, J. C. Palmer, of the old firm of Palmer, Cook & Co., returned on the last steamer from the East. This gentleman, it is rumored, has been for some time past a heavy operator on Wall street, with variable success. Fby.

A MOST EXCELLENT JOKE: Gabe Hall, Tom Fitch, and Charley DeLong haranguing the people of Virginia on the necessity of making currency of something plentier than gold and silver! It would relieve them but for a day. Whatever the currency might be made, industrious men would soon gather it in and leave Gabe, Tom, and Charley sparring the bar-keeps again for their matutinal cocktail. Though coin were plenty—thick as leaves of Valambrosa around a country schoolhouse—Tom, Charley and Gabe would now and then call huskily from their parched throats for a change in the financial policy of the Country.

Maybe you recollect some of the amusing accounts of Capt. Speke's observations in Africa. Capt. Speke got hard up for the comforts of life, and an association of Dutch ladies fitted out an expedition to relieve him. Rumor says that discriminating colored citizens of Egypt have captured the Dutchesses, and turned them over to the relief of colored chieftains. Isn't that rough? Speke! Oh, Speke!

The lady smiled so easily, and passed on. This is told as a good joke, but we can't see it.—Old Piute.

It was a good joke where you first saw it, some months ago, in the S. F. Mercury.

FROM THE EAST.—Grant, at last accounts, still contracting his lines about Richmond. The army concentrating in front, and Sheridan doing effective cavalry service. Beauregard's joining Lee's army, near Mechanicsville. Lee reported sick, in Richmond, and Early in command. Richmond papers say they had underrated Grant's ability. [Complimentary—mild form!] Rumored—by refugeeing women—that a meeting had been held in Richmond, to consider whether to burn or surrender the city; that the Mayor said surrender, and had been sent to Castle Thunder. [Rather one-sided style of discussion!]

The Fremonters met in convention at Cleveland, Ohio, May 31, about 300 strong. John Cochrane, New York Breckinridger, made chairman. Fremont nominated for President, Cochrane for Vice. Platform adopted: Rebellion to be put down without compromise. Freedom of the Press, habeas corpus, and things, sustained, except where military law has been declared. Constitution to be amended—abolishing all distinctions on account of color. Monroe Doctrine indorsed. One term principle affirmed. President and Vice should be elective by people direct. Reconstruction after States quit the Rebellion belongs to Congress—not the Executive. [Right.] Confiscation of rebel lands for benefit of soldiers. Name—'Radical Democracy!'

Reporter Stanton continues his accounts of numerous fights in different quarters, the Federal arms almost invariably triumphant. Indications of distress amongst the Georgians, who are crowding South before the Union armies.

Reported that Minister Dayton has been assured that no rebel ironclads will be allowed to leave France. [A tub to the whale, to stave off application of the Monroe Doctrine.]

LATEST.—Washington, June 4.—Steamer Connecticut from White House, reports heavy clouds of smoke in vicinity of Richmond; and it is thought a conflagration was raging in the city. Not a doubt is entertained of the early fall of Richmond. Citizens of Richmond reported panic-struck.

Internal revenue collections over $100,000,000, and estimated that the present law will double it the coming year.

To June 7th, accounts leave Grant and Butler's armies fighting by turns, with variable success, though in each case they have held their ground. Lee's army under Early, still on north bank of Chickahominy. An attack with that purpose had failed to drive it from that position.

Baltimore convention called to order at noon of the 7th. Rev. Dr. Breckinridge elected temporary Chairman. Hon. Wm. Dennis afterwards elected Chairman. Nevada, Nebraska and Colorado admitted to vote. Double delegation from Missouri, and no decision between them. Convention addressed by Parson Brownlow, and adjourned to 8th.

Fremont accepts the Cleveland nomination, with the condition that if the Baltimore convention will nominate a man 'whose past life justifies a well-grounded confidence in his fidelity to our cardinal principles,' he will withdraw; but will run in opposition to Lincoln, if nominated, and do all in his power to secure his defeat.

Secretary Chase reported in New York to negotiate a temporary loan of $50,000,000. [What other than temporary can a loan be?]

The ship Lookout, now loading at Honolulu, is taking on 300 kegs molasses, contributed by various ranchmen on the Sandwich Islands to the Sanitary Fund.

SNOW FELL last night, to cover all the mountain sides to the west of town. Heavy wind blew almost all yesterday. Cool this morning, but clear. Persons from Humboldt river report it to have risen three feet within the past ten days, and higher than it has before been since the flood of '62.

LAKE DIGLER.—This is one of the most pleasant places of Summer resort to be found on the Pacific coast.—Carson Independent.

That lake never will be popular under the name of Digler. Why, if we were near it, and our direct route was by its shores, we would go twenty miles out of our way to avoid it so long as it bears the name of Digler.—Marysville Appeal.

One Thompson is credited, in tradition, with having been seized and possessed of another just such colt, long-ear thy time, Pauline.

TOO HORSY.—The Alpine Chronicle tells of seeing 'one of Markleeville's fairest daughters' put her arms around a horse 'and deliberately smack him.' That woman could n't play horse with us, after that performance—if it is leap year.

WHAT IS IT?—The ladies of Douglas county advertise that they will give a grand 'canary party,' in aid of the Sanitary Fund, at Genoa, Friday evening, June 10th. What in thunder is a canary party?—Gold Hill Message.

Cast one asleep—then cut the diseased part.'

CHICO LANDING, May 31, 1864.

EDITOR REGISTER: I extract the following from the Red Bluff Independent, of May 30th;

CHEAP FREIGHT.—We received notice, this week, from the forwarding house of George F. Nourse, Chico, that freight is leaving that landing for Humboldt at 10 cents the pound. The Sheba Mill has been forwarded from Red Bluff at 11 cents per pound—60 tuns.—Humboldt Register.

Brother Forbes, we demand justice! Please correct the above, in one particular, and hereafter don't go to Chico for Red Bluff items. There has not been a pound of freight shipped from Red Bluff for Humboldt at a higher rate than 9 cents per pound—except in one instance, and that was the boiler for the Sheba Mill. It being necessary to construct a wagon for that special purpose, 10 cents per pound was paid. We will take the contract to ship any amount of freight from Red Bluff to Humboldt for 9 cents, and then make a cent on each pound shipped. We do n't think Bro. Forbes intended to do Red Bluff an injustice to help our Chico neighbors—he probably got his information from Chico, and considered it reliable. One cent per pound amounts to $20 per tun, all in favor of Red Bluff as against Chico. Will the Register note the corrections.

The above demands a word from me. In regard to the first paragraph quoted from your paper, 'ten cents per pound' is correct, so far as applied to teams which left this place before any dare go over the Bluff road—the first teams of the season; and also to express and other packages since. For rates of freight from this place to yours during the month of May, I refer you to your neighbors—to whom I have forwarded large quantities.

Concerning the second quotation from the Register, I need not say to you that your information did not come from here. The fact of your having heard so, is proof to me that the statement is correct, and that you had it from good authority. I have heard the same thing before, and the Independent must learn that even teamsters, when away from the baleful influence of Red Bluff, can be honest and tell the truth.

Before constructing a wagon for special purposes, 'twould have been better to have constructed a road for ordinary wagons; then fewer of their teams would come 40 miles out of their way in order to travel the Chico road.

The mathematician of the Independent is correct—'one cent per pound amounts to $20 per tun!'—quite correct! He had better now sit down, and make an estimate of how long it will be before he gets rich off of his commission on teamsters.

In conclusion, let me here say: freight from San Francisco to Red Bluff, by C. S. N. Co.'s steamer, is $20 per tun—from San Francisco to Chico Landing by same boats, $12 per tun. Teamsters prefer the Chico road, it being shorter and better than that of Red Bluff—and freight shall go from this point as cheap as, or cheaper than, from any other in California. All this is $8 per tun, at least, in favor of Chico, as against Red Bluff.

Mr. Independent, squirm again. Tell some more. You've got this thing just where I want it, and let's you and I show up this road business.

GEO. F. NOURSE.

STAR ITEMS.—Cutler & Westerfield's Jordan Creek express got in on the 4th, bringing late news from the mines. The arrivals there are increasing, but hundreds become satisfied in a few days, and return. There are three hundred mounted dragoons, from Fort Boise, camped on the Owyhee. The travel up the Humboldt to the Jordan mines has not abated. A great many families are moving that way.

Gov. Bigler has been sojourning here, looking after his interests. Tuesday, as he was starting down the cañon on his way to his claim, with provisions and tools for the purpose of starting work, his horses became unmanageable, and ran away. He however succeeded in getting them turned up on the steep side hill, which checked them in their mad career. The sudden turn threw the Governor out of the wagon. Quite a number of persons, seeing the accident, ran to his assistance, but ere they reached him he was on his feet, firmly grasping an uninjured black bottle, supposed to contain a mixture for neutralizing the effect of Humboldt water. No damage being done, the team was brougt back into the road and again started off.

A Democratic club meets here Saturday night. At their last meeting (which was their first), they were addressed by Professor Linscott—who enlightened them on the rights of the South, the rottenness of Abe Lincoln's administration, &c., &c. The Prof. says he does n't care which side whips, but that he is just as good a Union man as anybody.

One of those events liable to take place at any time—viz: an election—came off on the 6th. Extra policemen were detailed for duty during the day. A general uprising was feared, and later in the day their worst fears were confirmed. Three men were shot—in the neck—with a large charge of rifle whisky. The riot act was threatened to be read, but the mob dispersed, peace was restored, and—twenty votes were cast. Banks ahead.

Work on all the Tunnels pushing along lively.

Thorn has fitted up a gymnasium in the rear of his store, where the boys can walk round and show their muscle. Rings, stirrups, parallel bars, ladders, &c. Call round and see him.

The last of the Santa Cruz emigration has got in. Red says, that the county seat of Potaluma will be in next week. But few people believe it.

The social hop, at Foster & Wise's saloon, was enjoyed hugely by all participants. T.

EDGERTON'S SPEECH.—The speech of Mr. Edgerton, on Saturday night, must have been a strange one for a professed Union man to have made. We met, yesterday, in Virginia, two noted Copperheads who were in great glee thereat. One of them was an emissary of Beriah Brown's Democratic Press. He remarked that if he had had an idea of the character of the speech Edgerton was about to make, he would have employed a phonographer to have reported it for the Press. We have never heard Edgerton's patriotism impugned, but most certainly such approbation of the Copperhead faction is a bad indorsement.—Gold Hill News.

There's too much of that spirit abroad. May not men of diverse political sentiment find some good in each other? There are grounds of agreement between every two honest and enlightened men, however different their opinions on general points. None are entirely bad: but the worst are the uncharitable, who will see no good in their neighbor.

PRICES OF BOARD in San Francisco hotels and boarding houses have been raised, in consequence of advanced prices of provisions.

SANTA CLARA, June 8th, 1864.

This is a high old place to live in; richest town in the country, for items. Too rich, in fact; can't pile 'em up rightly. Two varieties of the genus homo vegetate here, respectively styled 'Santa Clara Roughs' and 'Amazon Maids.' Roughs invite leap year proposals from the Amazons, stating time, terms, &c.; which invitations are indignantly repelled—repellants stating as cause, lack of thoroughbred blood in Sant Clara, and Amazons do'nt mate with scrubs; going to send to Unionville, the town where The Register is printed, for the right sort. The two parties have a set to, a la Benicia Boy, now and then. Amazons generally get the best of it; can talk louder, roll their sleeves higher without injury to muscle, spread themselves to better advantage, slam around more promiscuously, and in fact are more generally on the rampage anyhow. Amusements are varied here by the occasional introduction of the 'Tin-pandemonium'—a regular institution here, though unknown elsewhere. All the juveniles in town come out on an average about three times a week, armed with milk-pans and sticks, and beat the devil's tattoo with infernal gusto, around any member of the roughs who has been 'caught napping' by the Amazons.

These afflictions, and others of a worse description that loom up in the dreamy future, have nearly mashed the roughs out. Some of them have gone clean daft already, and others are going fast. We expect that the next meeting of the Hon. Board of County Commissioners will result in a large appropriation of county funds to defray the expenses of hauling some wagon loads of addle brains from this place to the Stockton asylum.

All these things are not sufficient to stop work here, though—for the boys are on that, too—as is daily evidenced by the noise and powder-smoke issuing from the 'Butte,' 'Little Giant,' 'Kentucky,' 'Miami' and 'St. Louis' tunnels. Lots of muscle daily squandered making gardens here, too; while among the istitutions of the town is a fine dairy, where the prices of milk, butter, and eggs are governed by Grant's success or defeat in Virginia. If Grant wins a few battles, and Richmond falls, Madame who runs the dairy, who is heavy on the Union, will give the aforementioned articles of merchandise away, while if Lee wins, Richmond prices prevail.

Yours, till again, M.

MARK TWAIN has gone to San Francisco—doubtless to get time to review the 'situation' and mature his plans for the re-opening of the campaign. He got the 'women of America,' as they are in Carson, down on him—which is not pleasant; and he got mixed up in a chapter of follies with a cotemporary; and Mark, like a sensible fellow, has gone down to see how it all looks from a Bay view. Old Pi thus volunteers his benison:

Left yesterday, for bluer skies and more verdant hills, S. L. Clemens, Esq., alias 'Mark Twain.' Yes, Mark has gone, and amid our fragrant sage brush, quartz-crowned hills and alkali hydrants we repose solitary and almost alone. The world is blank—the universe worth but 57½, and we are childless. We sha'l miss Mark: his bosom friend De Quille will miss him; Marshall will do ditto; every lunch house in the city, every brewery and every woman (who knew him)—and to know was to love him—will miss him. We can't dwell on this subject; we can only say—God bless you, Mark! be virtuous and happy.

I knew that Damascus claimed for its founder Uz, the great-grand-son of Noah. That the head of Syria was called Damascus: that thrice it had been the capital of Greek Empires, whose monarchs ruled from the banks of the Atlantic to the shores of the Indus; that it had been possessed by six different sections of the human family; that while empires, kingdoms and great cities had been created and passed away, Damascus still flourished, and lies now, as then, a fresh oasis upon the confines of a Syrian desert. I had heard everywhere music of waters—like the singing of Spring jets [illegible] by the road-side, falling in silvery streams from [illegible]ntains, and spouting in crystal reached the summ[illegible] city and looked down upo[illegible]ard; but not till I had could I appreciate that these [illegible] above the were the source of all this richness and scene, No wonder that Naaman, the great Syrian general spurned the entreaties of the little Jewish maid, captive in his harem, to bathe in the murky waters of the Jordan, and that he should retort upon the apparent want of appreciation of the prophet by saying: 'Are not Abana and Pharpar rivers of Damascus better than the waters of all Israel; may I not wash in them and be clean?'

Tradition has it that a leper hospital, seen now outside the gate of the city, occupies the site of Naaman's house—an old story; but then it clings to an old city. Would that these waters might be troubled, as were those of old, by the prophet of God, and then these people might bathe therein and be made clean of their sins as was Naaman of his leprosy. We look down upon one garden of cultivation, thirty miles in circuit—the plain on either side bounded by bare, chalky-looking hills which on one side are foot-stools to Antilebanon, and standing up against the sky is seen the glittering summit of Mount Hermon shining as a breast-

RECOVERING A PIECE.—Our army correspondent furnishes an account of a very amusing performance by a Sergeant in the Army of the Cumberland, at Stone River. The fight was serious—the rebels making it particularly warm on the right. But there was a temporary lull on the left, and our Sergeant was detailed, with a squad, to recover a gun which had been partially disabled and left, in the heat of the fight, in the stretch of sand separating the contending forces. He was ordered with his squad 'to recover the piece.' He bustled off, full of the importance of this, his first commission on detached service. He was forgotten in the heat of the still raging fight. Jeff. C. Davis checked the advance of the rebs, but Old Rosy was content to withdraw a little, after re-forming his broken lines, and go into camp for the night. In course of the evening, our Sergeant's Captain reported his failure to connect, and received orders from his Colonel to go out in search of him. It was a pleasant evening, and the Captain, with the balance of his company, started out. After looking about for some two hours, they suddenly met the sergeant and his men making slowly for camp. After mutual recognition, the Captain said,

What in the devil's name detained you so long?

SERG.—Recovering the piece—as ordered.

CAP.—Well, where are the balance of your men?

SERG.—Picked off by the d—d sharpshooters.

CAP.—Well, where's the piece? How did you find it?

SERG.—Found it partly covered by a shell. Recovered it with about forty feet of sand, and just got through.

The poor fellows had one part of the soldier's quality—'the sand'—for they had labored with their shovels till three-fifths of their number had been nipped by Confederate rifles.

THE RIOT OF WOMEN IN SAVANNAH.—The Palmetto Herald of the 5th has the following:

'Deserters from Savannah bring us the intelligence that on the 17th ult. the women of that city, unable longer to endure the pangs of hunger, collected in a body and armed themselves, and then marched in procession through the streets, demanding bread or blood. At every place where food was obtainable by persuasion or force, they halted and seized it. In vain the authorities appealed to them to desist from their work, and the soldiers of the garrison were at length called out to quell the riot. A brief conflict ensued, but the ringleaders were arrested and lodged in jail, where they now remain awaiting trial.'

Miss Kellogg would not sing with Miss Hinkley. Madame D'Angri will not sing with Madame Varian. Since the creation morning, the stars have never sung together.—Ex.

A man of wit was asked in a train: 'What was his errand to the city.' He replied: 'I have been sent to procure an angel to do the cooking!'

Main street, Star City.

IF you are athirst, give us a call—our liquors are the best to be got in San Francisco, and in full variety; gay bar-keeps, too—talented fellows, with high foreheads. Or, if you don't drink, perhaps you smoke—some do. A prime Havana is a great luxury—when a man's tired; or just been to dinner; so soothing, when it's been bought with the last quarter, and a fellow's busted. Come and try one.

Marble-Bed Billiard Tables.

Two of Phelan's famous combination cushioned tables. Billiards is allowed to be one of the most refined games to be found. Employs the mind, while the interest on your loaned money keeps counting up. Exercises your legs, by sending you around the table to get your ball out of the pocket. Gives grace to the body, by introducing that elegant posture, one leg in the air, hat for a bridge, and cue harpoon style. Exercises the lungs, by the large amount of whistling after bad shots.
Come and see us, anyhow. If you don't want to buy, sit down in the shade and chew your tobacco, just as if it was paid for. Somebody might treat. 27tf

DAMASCUS (Syria), Oct. 5, 1863.

How singular to find, outcropping from the mud walls of which Damascus is built, perfectly chiseled Corinthian columns, the vine-cut lintel of a doorway, or a massive arch, relics of Roman grandeur. In the very midst of one of these rag-covered bazaars, we descry a noble gate-way, a specimen of pure Saracenic architecture—the arch overhead ornamented with finely carved pendants of light honey-comb work, the stones interlaced of different colors, such as we had seen in Moorish buildings. We enter; and find massive piers, supporting lofty domes, a fountain in the center, and mat-spread lounges, upon which sat, in long, blue robes, Persian merchants discussing the price of stocks, and waiting a sale of their baled merchandise, which lie about in promiscuous heaps, or are stowed away in dark cells off from the court.

Near here is the slave market for Caucasian beauties. We went in; but the sales had closed. And here we must not forget, though we zig-zag still, that we are in the street called 'Straight.' We walk up with credulity in our faces, if not in our hearts, and peep through a grated window into the house of Judas, where was lodged one Saul of Tarsus, whom the Lord sought there, through his servant Ananias, whose limb is shown within, covered with the dust of ages and hung with myriad scraps of rags—Mussulman offerings of respect for the worthy dead. We visit the house of Ananias—deep beneath the surface of the ground—now a Catholic chapel. The place is shown us where Paul was let down the wall from a projecting window, and where the great light, as from Heaven, shone about him. I can conceive it to have been a blinding one if the rays were more concentrated than those of a Syrian sun now. It is said that these holy places are subject to change every few years, so that we do not feel it incumbent to bow our heads with deep feelings of reverence.

We close the sights of the day by clambering up the walls of an old fortification, and look down upon what, if dropped here without previous knowledge of the surroundings, you certainly would not call a city—but a dove-tailed conglomerate of walls, the whole plastered over with a coating of baked clay: the thatched and tattered crevices showing the line of bazaars, and the domes and minarets the mosques. For a turn about the city we have horses. I had an Arab colt upon which, doubtless, woman never sat—with a man's saddle and halter to guide him. I have heard and read much of the poetry of motion and the sensation of being borne on the wings of the wind in riding these Arab steeds, but I must confess that my experience did not accord well with either. I only gave myself into the hands of Providence and clung closely to the saddle, letting the wild Arab go as he would. In the evening, before we have withdrawn from the dinner-table, a venerable Arab with a long beard, white as the folds of his turban, whom we call Antika, comes in and, as from the magic depths of a pandora-like box, pulls from his girdle and the ample folds of his loose over-garment, shawls, scarfs, caps, great varieties of jeweled ornaments, pistols, and Damascus blades [illegible] up and parades us about in his gay merchandise, till we almost fancy ourselves heroines of the 'One Hundred Nights.'

I knew that Damascus claimed for its founder Uz, the great-grandson of Noah. That the head of Syria was called Damascus; that thrice it had been the capital of Greek Empires, whose monarchs ruled from the banks of the Atlantic to the shores of the Indus; that it had been possessed by six different sections of the human family; that while empires, kingdoms and great cities had been created and passed away, Damascus still flourished, and lies now, as then, a fresh oasis upon the confines of a Syrian desert. I had heard everywhere music of waters—like the singing of Spring jets branching by the roadside, falling in silvery streams from fountains, and spouting in crystal [illegible] reached the summit [illegible]; but not till I had city and looked down upon [illegible] could I appreciate that these [illegible] greatest above the were the source of all this richness and scene. No wonder that Naaman, the great Syrian general, spurned the entreaties of the little Jewish maid, captive in his harem, to bathe in the murky waters of the Jordan, and that he should retort upon the apparent want of appreciation of the prophet by saying: 'Are not Abana and Pharpar rivers of Damascus better than the waters of all Israel; may I not wash in them and be clean?'

Tradition has it that a leper hospital, seen now outside the gate of the city, occupies the site of Naaman's house—an old story; but then it clings to an old city. Would that these waters might be troubled, as were those of old, by the prophet of God, and then these people might bathe therein and be made clean of their sins as was Naaman of his leprosy. We look down upon one garden of cultivation, thirty miles in circuit—the plain on either side bounded by bare, chalky-looking hills which on one side are foot-stools to Antilebanon, and standing up against the sky is seen the glittering summit of Mount Hermon shining as a breastplate. Only a few hours' ride beyond is the great, parched desert. The city of one hundred and eighty thousand inhabitants shut in so completely behind its plastered walls of mud and straw, was almost lost to view by the dense foliage of orchards which stretch like emerald bands without and shade the courts within; now especially beautiful since the autumn hues have tinted the pomegranate purple, the apricot yellow, the walnut brown, mingled with the gray olive, the dark cypress, and silver sheen of the poplar. We look upon it almost doubting the reality of the scene, for it seems like a glorious vision that, like a dissolving view, may suddenly disappear. Well might Mahomet here exclaim, when he looked upon it for the first time: 'But one paradise is allowed man; I will not take mine in this world;' and wheeling about he pitched his tents in the desert.

Returning, we skirted along the city walls—huge chunks of hardened mud; passed over to see fields of green grain, and the orange groves as green as if in the Spring-time of their freshness. Artificial streams of water coursed lazily in channels between the long rows of trees, or spread like an inundation over the whole surface. I have never seen greater evidences of richness in soil, dark and loamy like the bottom-lands of our country. We passed through the Christian quarter—a heap of rubbish and ruins since it was demolished during the massacre, when the streets ran with the blood of four thousand slaughtered Christians—and entered at the gate of God, through which the Pilgrim caravan of seven to eight hundred makes its annual exit to Mecca; a pilgrimage requiring from four to six months, and many there be who go out that never re-enter. 'Where is all the fairy-like beauty of the city, when we see nothing but ragged walls?' we asked of old Ibraham, our Jewish cicerone. 'Come with me and I will show you,' said he. So we follow.

Led through the walls by the same ever-open little door, to a dark entrance cumbered with filth, where, in times of past persecutions, the family assembled that its members might be considered too wretchedly poor to be worth a sacking; again through another passage, and burst upon our view surroundings that make the age of the Califs no longer to be doubted. We are in an open court; there is the gurgling of fountains, the singing of birds, the air laden with the fragrance of the orange blossom, jassamine and white rose. The pavement is tesselated, the walls are brilliantly painted, and small saloons surround the court. You pass beyond into another; the same gorgeous display of fountains and high vaulted ceilings set with small bits of mirrors, pearl, shell and ebony. Divans about the room are laid with white Cashmere with cushions of rich Damascene silk. This was the Jewish Sunday. The mistress of the house and her daughters came toppling in on kubkobs—wooden soles on two upright bits of wood six or eight inches high, ornamented with pearl, with a worked band over the foot—which they step off from at the door, dropping down considerably in the world. They were real voluptuous Jewish beauties with full lips, large eyes, whose long silken fringes and brows were touched with kohl; their long dark hair, braided in myriad little plaits, hung down the back, the ends dangling with gold and silver coins; their heads were glittering with pearls and jewels; their jeweled fingers deeply stained with henna, and their only covering a loose sort of chemise left open in front to the waist, leaving the whole form exposed.

Within these showy palaces they spend their days in self-adornment. I pity them and all their kind who have nothing better to live for. The Mussulman Sunday—the grand market day—is one of unusual interest. This is the day set apart for the women to wail over the graves; some pretend to say that they converse with their departed friends through an opening that you see in the top of each Dutch-oven looking tomb. As if intent upon giving his best robe an airing at least once a week, the Persian struts along in blue and gold, his high, black sugar-loaf, a yard in length, upon the back of his head, at an inclination backward of forty-five degrees. You see plenty of spruce descendents of Ham decked out with all their characteristic fondness for finery; the Turk with his longest rich robe; while the Jew, not to be outdone, comes out in his fur-lined and trimmed mantle. When we stop in the market and see the traffic that is carried on, we realize what a great trading center it is—now as when Ezekiel said: 'Damascus was thy merchant, in the multitude of the wares of thy making, and for the multitude of all riches.' On an average from three to four thousand camels arrive and depart daily.

Traveling is very much like amassing wealth—the more one has the more one wants. Nothing that I would like better now than to mount a camel and go from here to Bagdad—fifteen days; or to Palmyra—seven days. Since I have seen the goods that are piled upon these poor creatures I begin to believe that it was no trifling affair—the royal bakshish of forty camels burden that the crafty Hazael offered the far-seeing Elisha. I do not imagine that the manners and habits of the people have changed much since that time. Every surrounding gives to the Bible a new and living interest. We see sitting on a little square box by the street a venerable old man with beard worthy a seer; a few sheets of unruled paper lie before him; a veiled figure stops beside him—she may be as fair as the Houris for aught I know—and from her lips may flow mellifluous words of love. Seeing my inquisitiveness, she takes the precaution to pronounce them low; he listens a moment, then draws from his girdle a long silver ink-horn—one end appropriated to pens the other to ink—and writes for her a little carefully folded letter. I imagined the contents; but her blushes were concealed as closely as she hid the billet-doux. He was a city scribe, a desirable position I judge, for they have a place on nearly every street corner.

Passing a book bazaar one day, I happened to think that a specimen of Arab printing would be a [illegible], and stepping up to a niche where books were lying about promiscuously, reached forth to take up one, when I was warded off by the proprietor as if I would call down fire to consume his whole stock. Not knowing why I had called forth such indignation, I appealed to the [illegible] when he told me that Christian money could buy anything but books, lest perchance they contain the name of Allah or his prophets, and can not be profaned by Christian hands. I said to him, poor bigot, and left him to moulder and grow dusty with his sacred books. You are doubtless weary with my wanderings, and will be rejoiced to have me shake the dust from my feet and have me bid adieu to this curious, wonderful old city.

Sunday evening our dragoman arrived, whom we had engaged to meet us here with equipments for tent life, and who had insinuated himself into our good graces when we first arrived at Beyroot, by showing a long list of American recommendations, some of whose names were familiar to us. And as our consul assured us that he was the best dragoman in Syria, and as we could not get an outfit [illegible] in Damascus, secured him without delay [illegible] five dollars per day each, everything [illegible] with our [illegible] morning we were up in [illegible] when I tell you that [illegible] included the eight mules and horses, and with ourselves, the [illegible] man guard and men, twenty-eight. I should think that the like had never been seen here before, by the crowd that gathered around us. We have never tried our horses and know not our fate—we have a long day before us, the road is good for some miles, and it is suggested that we make the most of it. The dragoman leads off; we let loose the rein; one is thrown; horses are changed, saddles are girted anew, and again we make a cavalry dash, and off rolls poor Mrs. S—— a second time, the unfortunate one, as before—now badly bruised; but she mounts again, and now we move on, somewhat tempered in our speed. When you once understand these Arab horses they are easy to manage, and pleasant to ride. They are not used to bit nor whip, but are urged, checked and guided by a rod poised in the hand. They walk well, are good pacers, and run with the least encouragement, but woe to your equilibrium when they stop, as they do instantaneously, by slip of the hind feet and a brace with the front.

We follow the diligence road for an hour or more, the same that we had passed over after dark in coming, a very interesting gorge almost as wide as those seen in Switzerland, through which courses the Barada, the golden flowing stream of the Greeks, and the sweet sounding Abana, of the Bible. On one side were two deep canals cut in the rock, one above the other—and on the opposite side are three, which conduct the water in different channels over the plains. Leaving the highway, we wind along a rugged path, cut or worn in the steep bank of the same joyous stream, laughing and skipping over the clear pebly bottom, like the brooks of our own dear New England. At noon we lunched at the fountain of Fijeh, a wild, lonely spot, the little narrow valley filled with orchards—up the jagged mountain sides, a few vineyards, and the fountain overshadowed with walnut and poplar.

A RICH STRIKE!
WHO WILL BUY A CHANCE?

THE Mill City and Water Company have duly incorporated, and laid out a town, and named it Mill City. It is located at the terminus of the great Humboldt Canal, in Humboldt county, N. T., and where 40 or 50 mills will be located. The water afforded by the canal will all be used at, and within the limits of Mill City. The company has already procured the purest soft water in abundance, within the city limits, for culinary and other purposes.

For a full and perfect description of Mill City, its advantages for location health, beauty and future prospects, the reader is especially referred to the prospectus and map, a copy of which will be found with each of the following agents, to-wit: O. R. Leonard, of Star, in Star District; Thos. A. Freeman, Unionville, Buena Vista District; F. W. Councilman, Dun Glen, Sierra District; and L. E. Ritter, of San Francisco, Cal. C. W. Shaug and J. A. Algauer, agents for Humboldt county, N. T.

Said company are now ready to sell lots on terms so favorable, that a rapid growth in population and wealth must ensue. C. W. Shaug will be at the company's office in Mill City, on Monday, of each week, where all persons desiring to purchase an interest in said town can do so; and also examine the city, the water, and other advantages, that no other point possesses. 200 No. 2 corner lots can be drawn by lottery, at $20 per lot, and 200 inside lots can be drawn at $10 per lot, by all that may wish to engage in such an enterprise, for luck. All said lots will be equally selected in point of value and location, or others can select the choice for higher figures.

P. S.—Reader, don't forget to carefully examine our City Prospectus.

SALUTES were fired, in the upper town, Tuesday night, on receipt of the news of the Baltimore nominations.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.—A new term commenced, Monday. Miss Sadorns, teacher. The attendance is not as large as it should be, where children are so numerous.

THE FOURTH is to be celebrated in a ball, at Dun Glen. We hear of no preparation for an observance of the day in any other part of the county.

BULLION.—Ewing & Washburn shipped, Thursday, by Wells, Fargo & Co., two beautiful bricks, product of 'Gem' ore. Weight, 903 ounces—worth $1,122.

THE SOLDIERS.—Capt. Wells' company of volunteer cavalry saluted the town in respectful style, and passed on; expecting to go into camp near Star, we believe, to await the arrival of Governor Nye.

MESSRS. MOSS AND SCRIMGER—the former the Superintendent of the Sheba mine, the latter Superintendent of the Dodge Mill—paid us a visit, Tuesday. As nearly as we could discover—without making a brute of ourself by asking questions—Moss came to find a level spot to exercise his legs; and Scrimger, to ascertain the cost of establishing a well-regulated brewery.

FAST FREIGHT AND PASSENGER LINE.—George F. Nourse, of Chico, arrived at Star, Wednesday, six days from Chico, with one team. He came through light—1,200 lbs. packages—with the purpose of making arrangements to run a weekly line from Chico to the Humboldt towns, carrying passengers and light freight. With one or two changes of stock, he can make the trip easily, he informs us, in five days; and can put passengers through for $50. A fast freight line will be a great convenience here, and we hope Mr. Nourse will consider the prospect sufficient to justify the establishment of his line.

'EVENING STAR.'—This mine is now in excellent shape for a steady yield of its famously rich ore. Work has proved the ledge [illegible], widening as depth is made on it, and the pay vein, expanding as the ledge grows heavier. Joseph Voshay, acting Superintendent, started for San Francisco, Monday, on business of the company. He informs us that the ledge is now full three feet, with a pay lode two feet in width. He has about 20 tuns of fine ore now lying at the mine, awaiting orders. Of the several workings of ore from the 'Evening Star,' no lot has yet yielded at a less rate than $100 the tun. The want is, a mill within a reasonable distance from the mine.

THE INDIAN HUNTERS have returned from the wars. We chronicled the accidental wounding of Wheeler and Ives. They are doing well. On the 8th, in a charge up a rocky bluff, a Bannock sharpshooter picked off Cooney Rowald—a young man of whom the boys all speak in terms of commendation; and concerning whom [illegible] of the troop arrived at Star in good spirits and condition, but very dirty, and so forth. They had a good reception; and being dusty, were well moistened down with Champagne and other such fluids. Our talented correspondent didn't find opportunities and facilities good for frequent communications during the campaign, but took his notes in good order; and next week we will give a full report of what the boys did in the expedition. They killed, in all, eight Bannocks, we believe—the rascals being very shy and keeping on the move.

'ILLINOIS.'—This company, located on the 'Moonlight' ledge, Indian District, is prosecuting work in good style: sinking the shaft and at the same time putting a tunnel in. The dip of the ledge as shown by later work in the original left the shaft of the 'Illinois' to the eastward, and the men are now drifting west from the shaft, expecting soon to strike the ledge 120 feet deeper than where the original company took such fine ore.

DENVER CITY, Colorado Territory, was visited, last month, by an overwhelming flood. The water came thundering, unannounced, down the dry bed of Cherry Creek, at midnight. When the sound was heard it was not intelligible. It served to alarm those who were awake, and to fill them with dread of some great casualty; but not till the flood was on them did they know the nature of the danger. It is thought twenty or thirty lives were lost, and near a million dollars of property. The office of the Rocky Mountain News, and the house, and the lot the house stood on, were washed away.

A CANARD of the telegraphic species appeared in the Eastern dispatches of the Piute one evening last week, chronicling the arrest of John Church and his imprisonment in Fort McHenry. The dispatch afforded opportunity for the Enterprise to work off a large accumulation of bitterness into a long article of stinging sarcasm, and caused some trouble of mind to the Daily Union people; and doubtless gave rise to much merriment among those in the secret—John Church being at Baltimore as a delegate to the Union convention. Subsequent dispatches prove the message from 'Winters & Bing' to have been a hoax.

FROM THE EAST.—Nothing decisive since last week. Accounts to the 10th left Grant in position on the bank of the Chickahominy, the pickets of the opposing armies within speaking distance of each other. The express papers failed last night, causing much disappointment; but we have full files, and nothing later from the East—the line being down.

THE MINING PROSPECT never looked better. There is probably not a community on this coast, with so large a proportion of its numbers regularly and actively employed. The idlers have deserted our towns. Very few but have become discouraged, disgusted with the 'dull times,' and betaken them to more hospitable scenes. While the streets are dull and the sports find no employment, the miners are gradually working down 10, 15, or 20 feet deeper, each week, into the mountain's depth. A good many companies could already, by a slight change of work, go up in their shafts and tunnels and breast out large quantities of ore for milling; but as it happens most of these are remote from any mill, and they prefer to go deeper while more mills come in, and have their mine in shape for working with a large force of men when the facilities for turning their raw metal into bars are better.

The 'Sheba' people are burning brick, putting up stone foundations and heavy timbers, and the miners thereabout are elated with the prospect of an early completion of the mill; as it is the intention to do custom work, when not fully employed on 'Sheba' ore.

The 'Trinity,' in the same district, is driving ahead with renewed vigor.

In Santa Clara, El Dorado, Prince Royal, and other districts, everybody is too busy with the sledge and drill to let us know what is the prospect.

In Humboldt City the 'Mammoth Tunnel,' the 'Cuba,' 'Sigel,' and others, keep their lights going into the mountain further each week. The Humboldt Canal is stretching itself slowly down the valley.

Dun Glen is enlivened, Sundays, by a large working force, resting from its labors in the 'Gem,' 'Tallulah,' 'Lang Syne,' 'Crœsus,' 'Badger,' and other mines.

Buena Vista is behind none in energy and industry, and will not be behind in showings of rich metals. The 'California' resumed work two weeks ago, and is in a good ledge, 60 feet down, and making about 10 feet a week. Where not broken up, the ledge carries a large vein of fine ore; and the men expect to be down in a week or two, below the decomposed streaks which now disturb the run of the metal. Other companies are keeping on, satisfied that they're all right. Another is added to the number of working companies almost every week. The 'West Run Tunnel Company' will break ground for the tunnel through to Echo, in about three weeks. This is one of the best prospects in the mountains. Fall's mill is turning out good yields, and the Lang Syne mill sends out magnificent white bricks. 'Gem' bullion from the latter, this week, assayed $1.25 the ounce. A letter from John C. Fall states that he has purchased and shipped a steam engine and boiler for his mill.

Three new incorporations this week:

PAPER TO THE STATES.—A great many people think we pay the postage on papers sent from this office to persons resident in California and the Atlantic States. It is an error. We send them in unstamped wrappers. The postage is required in advance, but the better way to pre-pay is at the office of delivery. Persons in this region who subscribe for a paper to be sent abroad should write to the same address at the time of subscribing, and the person to receive the paper should then pre-pay a quarter's postage, notifying the postmaster of the name of the paper to come.

Then if it come not, the postmaster who got the six-and-a-fourth cents can be [illegible] when the paper fails; and if he says the paper hasn't come, you tell him you know the paper is on the square, and your friend is n't a liar; and make other such remarks as the hue of the official's [illegible], the cut of his hair and development of his [illegible] may at the moment suggest; and—you'll get your paper. It's perfectly simple, when you understand it.

SEMBLINS tells of a boarding house he quit—in the States. It was a nice old lady, apparently—the landlordess of the ranch; but in an after-supper talk with a neighbor, which he overheard, the old gal let out too much on the mouse leavins and dead flies. The landlordess disagreed with the company as to the comparative merits of different materials for puddings. 'I don't like them sago and starch puddins nigh so well as bread;' said this thrifty old gal; 'not as but what they taste better—not at all—but I allus had better luck with bread puddins amongst the boarders. [illegible] puddin has some burnt crusts and [illegible] into a bad; and the but if a fly or two [illegible] around it.'

VERY FAIRY-LIKE.—The war correspondent of the Enterprise informs us that the great Sanitary Fair then in progress in St. Louis was 'a complete success.' Speaking of the fair building, he says it 'is located on the vacant lot on Twelfth street, between Olive and St. Charles streets, and was designed especially for the purpose.' A bully correspondent!

LATER FROM MEXICO.—Dates from the City of Mexico are to the 20th ult.

The rumor of the banishment of Archbishop Labartida and Gen. Miramon was untrue.

Fernando Mangini, Master of Ceremonies, has published a card in which he announces that Major Generals Pedro Ampudia, Martin Carrera, Anastasio Parrodi, Manuel Andrarde and Miguel Miramon, and Brigadier Generals Santiago Blanco, Miguel Blanco, Nicolas Portilla, F. Casanova, F. A. Velez, Antonio Ayestaran and A. Taboada, have been appointed to escort the Emperor and Empress from the hacienda of Teja to the Cathedral and Palace of the City of Mexico.

The new Emperor has assumed the title of Fernando Maximilian.

General Arteaga, of the constitutional army, was within a league and a half of Guadalajara.

General Patoni, Governor of Durango, has been appointed Minister of War, by Juarez.

Colonel Rodriguez had arrived at Mexico with the papers of the new Emperor.

Doblado has retired to Saltillo.

Great preparations were making for the reception of Maximilian, who was expected at Vera Cruz on the 25th of May.

The bar at Matamoras has been sounded by some French war ships, and the Mexicans fear that their place will be taken.

'WHICH WILL WITHDRAW?'—The San Francisco Bulletin asks this question concerning Fremont and Cochrane, the Cleveland presidential ticket. It quotes from the Constitution, showing that the Electors of no State can cast the vote of the State for President and Vice President both inhabitants of that State; and then proceeds to say that Cochrane has always been a citizen of New York, and Fremont has in San Francisco law cases repeatedly made oath that he is a citizen of New York. So, the New York Electors could not cast their vote for the New York ticket.

THE PRESS.—'The Monitor Gazette' is a new candidate for newspaper patronage—the initial number having been issued in 'Monitor, Amador Co., Cal., June 4, 1864,' by S. J. Noble, S. G. Lewis and W. O. Hayes. It is small, and neat—except the heading, for which an improvement is promised. Hope they will take down that campoodie which is made the base of a flag-staff and labeled 'Our Country.' It looks more like the top of a circus—and is a slander on 'Our Country.'

'The Old Piute' hasn't made the connection. What's the matter now?

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.—V.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10, 1864.

A fresh panic in leading mining stocks was inaugurated on Saturday last (4th inst), and still continues without much abatement. Gould & Curry, after having declined to about $3,000, as stated in my last letter, experienced a further depression; and since the close of last week 150 feet have been sold within the range of $2,400 and $2,700 per foot. Ophir also fell from $850 to $600 per foot, and some 25 feet have changed hands at these rates. Other stocks, hitherto regarded with favor, and always thought to possess an intrinsic value beyond the reach of any momentary pressure, have likewise been seriously affected (in sympathy with Gould & Curry and Ophir); and some speculative shares have no market at all. The depression in Gould & Curry is the subject of unusual comment. The regular monthly dividend of $125 per foot was paid on the 6th inst., and a surplus fund of $50,000 remains in the treasury of the company. The immediate cause of the first downward movement in this stock arose from the peremptory orders 'to sell at any price' of a party just from New York, who was on a visit to Virginia City at the time. This gentleman was known to be a large holder, and also represented Eastern parties; and this alone was sufficient to create a stampede—and many timid holders were frightened and sold out. At first it was thought that this was a strategic movement, and might be an ingenious stroke of policy to 'bear' the stock for the purpose of enabling those who sold to repurchase at the decline; but subsequent developments do not seem to favor such a theory. The same party continues to sell, and the friends of this gentleman are said to be getting rid of their stock. Hypothecated stock has been thrown on the market by those who held it as collateral security; and the confidence once felt by all classes is materially shaken. For eighteen months past, no difficulty was experienced in borrowing at least 75 per cent. of the current value of Gould & Curry at low rates of interest; but now all capitalists are frightened and assert that no mining stocks can be regarded as safe. Incalculable injury has been done the mining interest, and some time must elapse before confidence can be restored. The deterioration in the productiveness of the Ophir and Savage mines is doubtless well authenticated. The former company has paid no dividend since March, and the Savage 'passed' its last dividend. The Gould & Curry mine, it is said, shows no diminution in its yield of bullion, but the croakers say 'If surrounding claims give out, why may not Gould & Curry share the same fate?' A check has been given to investments in these stocks by Eastern capitalists, just at the moment when this influx of capital was most needed.

AMUSEMENTS.

Nearly every place of amusement in the city continues to be thronged nightly. The Richings have been performing for ten days past the operatic drama of The Enchantress, at Maguire's Opera House, to crowded houses. Miss Richings has become already an established favorite with the public. She is quite prepossessing in appearance, and acts and sings with genuine taste and feeling. Her vocalization is exquisitely fine. This evening the Italian opera of La Traviata is to be given, with our old favorites, the Bianchi's, assisting. Miss Richings and her father receive from Mr. Maguire $100 a night for one hundred nights. Before leaving New York, the Richings offered $3,000 to Maguire's agent to cancel the contract—which was declined.

In about sixty days the renowned Charles Kean and his wife are expected here from Australia. They are engaged to play in this city, with the famous comedian George Coppin, James F. Cathcart, Miss Chapman, and others. This will be a decided treat to the lovers of the legitimate drama. The fame of the Keans is world-wide; Coppin as a comedian is said to be as fine as Burton was in his palmiest days.

[illegible] concert here, next week. This distinguished violinist performs with marvelous skill, and will create a sensation. Your correspondent has not forgotten the delightful harmonies of this genius, ten years ago, in other lands. Julien was then a lad of 14, but played with such rare cultivation and so much delicacy of feeling, as to challenge the admiration and wonder of every listener.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

Contributions to the Sanitary fund within the past three weeks have amounted to about $20,000. In addition to this, monthly payments are almost daily made by those who have become regular contributors. A number of sugar planters at the Sandwich Islands have contributed [illegible] of molasses to the same fund which is now en route, to New Bedford from Honolulu, and will be [illegible] in the East, some $10,000.

Enterprising capitalists [illegible] Point Docks, for the smelling furnace [illegible] ores. A new process [illegible], whereby a great saving of purpose of expense is anticipated. Nearly all the [illegible] ore received here from the interior is now shipped to New York, Boston, and England.

Mr. Gaspard Toussaint Fouque, a scientific gentleman of some distinction, died here last week. Mr. Fouque was born in Marseilles, France, but made San Francisco his home for many years past. For a long time he has devoted himself to metallurgy—and at the time of his death was manager of the Metallurgical Works at North Beach.

'The Drummer Boy of Fredericksburg,' W. W. Hawkins, who was introduced to the public at the Metropolitan Theater, a short time since, as formerly belonging to the 9th New York Volunteers, and who, it was said, lost his leg at the battle of Fredericksburg, has been arrested as an impostor, and is to have his trial in a day or two on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses.

The Ladies' Protection and Relief Society of this city has completed a new edifice on Franklin street. The building occupies a commanding position, and is a decided attraction to the west end of the city. This society is admirably managed, and commends itself to the liberality of all who take pleasure in contributing to a most worthy charity.

Preliminary preparations are being made to celebrate the ensuing fourth of July in handsome style, and a large meeting was held, last evening, to further the movement. The Board of Supervisors has passed a resolution appropriating $3,000 for a pyrotechnic exhibition. If General Grant should succeed in capturing Richmond meanwhile, the loyal people of this city would unite in a grand demonstration. The progress of our army north and east of the line of the Chickahominy has been slow for the past two weeks; but undiminished confidence is felt in the final success of the campaign against the rebel capital. The efforts of the rebels have been directed, this week, to flanking Grant's left, in order to cover his communication with White House—his new base of supplies, since our army left the Rapidan. Ten Federal Generals have been killed, three captured, and a large number wounded. The total losses in killed, wounded and missing, are estimated by the New York papers at from 50,000 to 60,000. The rebel loss is thought to be much greater, and yet Lee has fought his army behind entrenched positions in almost every engagement—Grant being the assailant. Gold has advanced from 167 to 195.

Since the foregoing was written, a sudden rally has taken place in our stock market. Gould & Curry has advanced from $2,500 to $2,900 per foot, and Ophir rose from $600 to $700 per foot. Other shares are advancing, and everybody is inclined to think the darkest hour has been seen.

In momentary expectation of the announcement that Mr. Lincoln has been nominated for re-election to the Presidency. One hundred guns are to be fired from the head of Clay street, as soon as the information reaches the city.

Weather hot. FRY.

ANDY JOHNSON.—The Grass Valley National styles Johnson 'a recent convert from States Rights Democracy.' You'll scarcely be able to establish that, Byine. If we remember correctly, Johnson has always been a sound national man—which is not consistent with the States Rights dogma.

MASONIC CELEBRATION.—The Masonic fraternity in Virginia will celebrate with customary ceremonies the 24th of June designated in the Masonic calendar 'Anniversary of St. John the Baptist.' Col. R. H. Taylor will read a poem.

The Baltimore Convention.

Convention re-assembled the morning of the 8th, Gov. Dennison in the chair. We condense from the Sacramento Union the following account of proceedings:

Raymond of New York, from the Committee on Resolutions, reported the following:

Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain, against all their enemies, the integrity of the Union and the paramount authority of the constitution of the United States; and that laying aside all differences of political opinion, we pledge ourselves as Union men, animated by a common sentiment, and aiming at a common object, to do everything in our power to aid the Government in quelling by force of arms the existing rebellion now waging against its authority, and bringing to the punishment due to their crimes the rebels and traitors arrayed against it.

Resolved, that we approve the determination of the United States Government not to compromise with rebels or to offer any terms of Peace, except such as shall be based upon an unconditional surrender [suspension] of their hostilities, and a return to their just allegiance to the constitution and laws of the United States, and that we call upon the Government to maintain this position, and to prosecute the war with the utmost possible vigor to the complete suppression of the rebellion, in full reliance upon the self-sacrifice, patriotism, heroic valor and undying devotion of the American people to their Country and its free institutions.

Resolved, That as slavery was the cause, and now constitutes the strength of this rebellion, and must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of Republican government, Justice and National safety demand its utter extirpation from the soil of the Republic, and that we uphold and maintain the acts and proclamations by which the Government in its own defense has aimed a death blow at this gigantic evil. We are in favor, furthermore, of such amendments to the constitution, to be made by the people, in conformity with its provisions, as shall terminate and forever prohibit the existence of slavery within the limits or jurisdiction of the United States.

The next resolution thanks the soldiers and sailors of the army and navy for their gallant and heroic achievements in defense of the Country.

Resolved, that the Government owes to all men employed in its armies, without regard to color, full protection of the laws of war, and that any violation of these laws by rebels should be made the subject of full and prompt redress.

The next resolution favors the fostering and encouraging of foreign immigration.

Resolved, that we are in favor of the speedy construction of the railroad to the Pacific.

Resolved That the National faith, pledged for the redemption of the public debt, must be kept inviolate, and for this purpose we recommend economy, rigid responsibility in public expenditures, a vigorous and just system of taxation.

Resolved, that it is the duty of every loyal State to sustain the credit of the Government and promote the use of the National currency.

Resolved, That we approve the position taken by the Government that the people of the United States can never regard with indifference an attempt by any European power to overthrow by force, or supplant by fraud, the institutions of any Republican government on the Western continent, and that they will view with extreme jealousy, as menacing to the peace and independence of our own country, the efforts of any such power to obtain a foothold for monarchical Governments to sustain a foreign military force in near proximity to the United States.

The reading of the resolutions was frequently interrupted by applause.

On motion, the resolutions were adopted by acclamation.

A motion was made to proceed at once to the nominations of candidates for President and Vice President.

As the question was about being taken, Raymond, of New York, urged that a vote be taken by States, as it had been said there was a disposition to rush the nomination of Lincoln through the Convention and stifle any contrary expression of sentiment.

The States were called, and the result was: For Lincoln, four hundred and ninety-seven; for General Grant, twenty two, all from Missouri.

On motion, the vote was declared unanimous.

The Convention then proceeded to vote for a candidate for Vice President.

Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee, Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, Daniel S. Dickinson, of New York, and L. H. Rousseau of Kentucky, were named. As the ballot proceeded, it became apparent that Johnson would be the nominee. Before the vote was announced, the various States whose votes had been divided commenced changing, and went unanimously for him, and he was declared the choice of the convention.

After the election of a National Committee and the adoption of various resolutions of thanks, the Convention adjourned sine die.

At a meeting of the members of the Humboldt Rangers, at Star City, June 13, 1864, a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. O'Bannon, Simmons, Vance, Prescott and Judd, to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings of the company concerning the loss of one of their number, C. Rowald, in the late expedition against the Bannock Indians. The following were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, In our organization, in the late engagement, while charging upon a party of [illegible], our comrade, C. Rowald, fell [illegible] he was shot through the [illegible] a fatal wound—causing almost instant death.

Resolved, That while as comrades in arms of the deceased, we sincerely lament his death, we can not but admire the noble bravery he exhibited in the dashing charge which cost him his life.

Resolved, That the name of Cooney Rowald shall ever be remembered by us as that of a brave, true man, fearless in danger, and ever ready to stand in the front when danger threatened.

Resolved, That in after times, when the tales of early life in the wilds of Humboldt are told around the peaceful hearths of homes no longer menaced by the savage foe, no name should be held in dearer reverence than that of him who now sleeps in his lonely mountain grave, who, when the note of danger sounded, thought not of his own hopes and future life, but freely and nobly risked his life and lost it in our defense.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in The Humboldt Register and forwarded to the family of the deceased.

SEMBLINS remarks, as typical of the way things are drifting, that the square bottles, with the squirts in 'em, on the hotel table, are labeled 'Superior African Pepper Sauce.'

STAR ITEMS.—Town very lively this week: principal feature, the Indian fighters, who have all returned, all in good health and spirits, though somewhat reduced in flesh—owing to short rations on the return trip.

The weather has been on a 'bender' during the past week: Snow, rain, and hail, and vice versa, has been the order of the day—and night too.

Almost an Item.—A couple of belligerents got to exchanging blows in a saloon, when one drew a knife and commenced thrusting at the other's ribs. Fortunately, the sheath clung to the blade and no damage was done, though the intent was good.

Metcalf, of Virginia, is in town for the purpose of establishing a hardware store.

Several Front street merchants from San Francisco are here examining the mines, with a view to investment.

Another party is fitting out for a prospecting tour through the Goose Creek mountains.

Great numbers of men returning from Jordan Creek.

Gov. Bigler is erecting a large and commodious house at his claim, for the accommodation of his workmen.

Work on the Sheba mill is going on, night and day.

The Democratic Club, on last Saturday evening, was addressed by Mr. Bonnifield, of Unionville. He was replied to by Hon. E. F. Dunne, of this place.

Work on all the old claims pushing ahead. 'Trinity' in 60 feet.

On the evening of the arrival of the Indian hunters, the Gardens called their council together and welcomed their old members back. James R. Vance was then initiated into that ancient and honorable order. The charge was read to him by the G. G. The badge of the order, containing their motto [Be happy!], was placed in his possession, and a basket of champagne was then broached; after which the grand procession was formed, and at 1:20 moved through the principal streets, with appropriate music.

Considerable excitement exists in regard to the election of school trustees, and some strife for the office is anticipated. A visit to the schoolhouse explains the reason.

Nourse, from Chico, is paying our town a visit. Suppose the consequence will be 'cheap freight.'

Summons.

[INTERNAL REVENUE STAMP, 50c, ATTACHED.]

IN THE PROBATE COURT, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT, Territory of Nevada.
ELIZA JANE DOOLEY, Plaintiff, vs. SAMUEL DOOLEY, Defendant.

The people of the Territory of Nevada, send greeting, To Samuel Dooley: You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the Probate Court in and for the county of Humboldt, Territory of Nevada, to answer the complaint therein, within ten days, exclusive of the day of service, after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served out of this county, but within this judicial district, within twenty days; or, if served out of said district, then within forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain a divorce and dissolution of the marriage contract existing between you and the plaintiff, for neglect and failure on your part to provide Plaintiff for two years past with the common necessaries of life, when such neglect was not the result of poverty on your part which you could not avoid by ordinary industry; and for other relief, as the case of suit. And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Probate Court in and for the county of Humboldt, Territory of Nevada, this fourth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

TO L. A. B.,
OF UNIONVILLE, NEVADA TERRITORY.

Though distant from thee, Lydia,
Thy mother now may be,
And though in a far distant land,
O'er leagues of land and sea;
Yet ever keep your childhood's heart,
Wherever you may roam:
For priceless to the wanderer
Are cherished thoughts of home.

Upon the sea of life, Lydia,
That ever restless deep,
Whose records of the crossing barque
Eternity must keep,
How oft above the deafning roar,
Thy low, sweet voice I hear—
Falling like strains of long ago
Upon my list'ning ear!

How oft amid the gloom, Lydia,
Thy gently beaming eye
Uprises on my soul, and bids
The lurking shadows fly;
Then all is calm, and bright, and fair,
And cheerful is my way,
For visions such as these can change
Deep darkness into day!

And blessings are invoked, Lydia,
Upon thy sacred head;
My lips both night and day implore
Heaven's riches on thee shed.
We now are severed, severed far,
O'er leagues of land and sea,
Yet still your mother's sorrowing heart
Still loves and blesses thee. S. M. M.

Marion, May, 1864.

WE PASS OUT.—The Como Sentinel comes in and sees the Piute's big baby item, and goes better—throwing our item into the shade of tame statistics:

Pretty good that, Mr. Ingin; but we can beat it a heap: A few months since a 'gentleman and lady' were married in Dayton, and in just four weeks from the said occurrence the wife presented her liege lord with an eight pounder! 'Whipsen she'd went on,' etc. The day proved an eventful one indeed to the governor of the young hopeful: He had a team sold by sheriff's sale, two law suits, a fight and got whipped, was arrested and put in jail, was bailed out, and the last seen of him he was standing in hostile array before one of the uptown batteries receiving volley after volley of the death-dealing Greek fire.

Or, if you don't drink, perhaps you smoke—some do. A prime Havana is a great luxury—when a man is tired; or just been to dinner; no touching, when it's been bought with the last quarter, and a fellow's busted. Come and try one.

Marble-Bed Billiard Tables.

Two of Phelan's famous combination cushioned tables Billiards is allowed to be one of the most refined games to be found. Employs the mind, while the interest on your loaned money keeps counting up. Exercises your legs, by sending you around the table to get your ball out of the pocket. Gives grace to the body, by introducing that elegant posture, one leg in the air, a la for a bridge, and cue harpoon style. Exercises the lungs, by the large amount of whistling after bad shots.

Come and see us, anyhow. If you don't want to buy, sit down in the shade and chew your tobacco, just as if it was paid for. Somebody might treat. 27tf

A RICH STRIKE!

WHO WILL BUY A CHANCE?

THE Mill City and Water Company have duly incorporated, and laid out a town, and named it Mill City. It is located at the terminus of the great Humboldt Canal, in Humboldt county N. T., and where 40 or 50 mills will be located. The water afforded by the canal will all be used at, and within the limits of Mill City. The company has already procured the purest soft water in abundance, within the city limits, for culinary and other purposes.

For a full and perfect description of Mill City, its advantages for location, health, beauty and future prospects, the reader is especially referred to the prospectus and map, a copy of which will be found with each of the following agents, to-wit: O. R. Leonard, of Star, in Star District; Thos. A. Freeman, Unionville, Buena Vista District; E. W. Councilman, Dun Glen, Sierra District; and L. E. Ritter, of San Francisco, Cal. C. W. Shaug and J. A. Algauer, agents for Humboldt county, N. T.

Said company are now ready to sell lots on terms so favorable, that a rapid growth in population and wealth must ensue. C. W. Shaug will be at the company's office in Mill City, on Monday, of each week, where all persons desiring to purchase an interest in said town can do so; and also examine the city, the water, and other advantages, that no other point possesses. 200 No. 2 corner lots can be drawn by lottery, at $20 per lot, and 296 inside lots can be drawn at $10 per lot, by all that may wish to engage in such an enterprise, for luck. All said lots will be equally selected, in point of value and location, or others can select the choice for higher figures.

P. S.—Reader, do n't forget to carefully examine our City Prospectus.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.—VI.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17, 1864.

The improvement in the money share market, noted in my last, has continued; and very large transactions have since taken place in leading stocks, as well as in speculative shares. Gould & Curry rose at the close of last week to $3,300, and Ophir to $980; and during the past few days this handsome rally has been well maintained. Telegraphic orders were received from New York to invest largely in these stocks, and the recent panic has measurably disappeared. At the moment, there are more buyers in the market than sellers. The late stampede was in a material degree, as your correspondent has heretofore remarked, precipitated by a mercenary 'bear' party who hoped to hammer down the market and 'freeze out' weak holders, in order to take in stock at low prices. The result was not as successful as it promised at one time to be; but some 200 feet of Gould & Curry and at least 100 feet of Ophir have been forced out of weak hands into the clutches of stronger parties.

The general market has been injuriously affected, but is slowly recovering its former strength and activity. Savage has risen $500 per foot; Potosi, $300; Challar, $150; Belcher, $200; and Yellow Jacket, about $200.

A large addition to the available capital of this city will be made in a few weeks. The Bank of California, with a paid-up capital of two millions dollars, will go into operation on the 5th of July, with D. O. Mills as President and W. C. Ralston as Cashier. This is an incorporated institution, with a local Board of Directors, comprising some of the solid men of the city—all of whom are stockholders. The old firm of Donohoe, Ralston & Co. will dissolve on the 1st of July—Mr. Donohoe continues the business in his new establishment on Montgomery street, and Mr. Ralston goes into the 'Bank of California' as its chief executive manager. The transactions of this Bank will embrace the general features of a regular banking business. A banking institution of a like character is to be established here during the year from abroad, and will command a capital of $5,000,000. In these increased monetary facilities, our merchants, manufacturers, farmers, and miners, will find an important auxiliary. Every interest on this coast will be stimulated by the introduction of this large amount of capital.

LOCAL RELIGIOUS TOPICS.

The Church of St. Boniface (German Catholic) has been presented by the Louis society of Munich (under the patronage of the King of Bavaria) with fourteen old paintings, representing the several stations (?) on the Cross; all of which can now be seen here in the church, on Sutter street.

The French Consul in this city has received from the Minister of Foreign Affairs the sum of 5,000 francs, for the purpose of aiding in the liquidation of the debt of the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires.

A new church building is to be erected on the corner of Post and Powell streets, by the Trinity Church Congregation. They have purchased a 50-vara lot at a cost of $30,000 for the purpose, and the new building will cost $50,000 additional.

Dr. Anderson, the well-known pastor of this city, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday last, previous to his departure on the steamer for the East. After reviewing the past history of his church, the Rev. Doctor made a fervent appeal in behalf of the U. S. Sanitary Commission and the Freedman's Relief Association—and, by request, also briefly called attention to the work of the Christian Commission. This latter organization is meeting with much favor and somewhat lessening the contributions to the U. S. San. Com. in this city under the leadership of the Rev. Dr. Bellows. Some little feeling has been exhibited, in certain quarters, at its success. On Sunday last, at the close of Dr. Anderson's sermon, he read, by request, a notice of a meeting of the Christian Commission to be held this week; and then, with apparent petulence, as we are informed, crushed the piece of paper in his closed hand, and threw it on the floor!

The Rev. D. B. Cheeney was at Philadelphia during the latter part of May. His health was thought to be improving. He writes that the American Baptist Home Mission Society has concluded to send nine new men to this coast, several of whom are intended for Nevada Territory.

OPPOSITION OCEAN STEAMSHIP LINES.

The new side-wheel steamship Golden Rule, 3,500 tuns burthen, built for Roberts' Opposition Line, will start from New York on her first trip the 29d of this month—connecting on this side with the Moses Taylor. Her model is said to be extremely beautiful, being similar to that of the Adriatic. Her speed is very great. She can make 15 miles per hour.

The Overland route to the Pacific, via the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, is about to acquire fresh interest under the auspices of Napoleon and Maximilian. They, it is thought, will at once endeavor to secure an easy transit from the Atlantic to the Pacific by means of a railroad from Minititlan to Ventosa. The opening of such a road will shorten the distance between San Francisco and New York 1,114 miles, and to New Orleans 1,766 miles would be saved. The time could be reduced to about 14 days.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

The Aquila is at last afloat, and riding in the bay; but the torcdo have been boring her pretty badly while lying in the mud, and she will probably be broken up.

A general meeting of the Hebrews of San Francisco was held last evening, for the purpose of taking some action with reference to the movement set on foot by Sir Moses Montifore, Mons. Cremieux and other eminent philanthropists, for the amelioration of the condition of the oppressed Hebrews of Southern Europe, Northern Africa and Eastern Asia.

The finding of the Court Martial in the case of Mr. Wise, (alluded to in a former letter,) charged with defrauding the Government in the matter of the lease of the State Agricultural Park grounds for a military camp, has been made public, and the defendant is honorably acquitted.

Capt. John Simm, who left this city for the East more than a year ago as 2d Lieutenant in the 'California Hundred,' returned from the seat of war last week. Of the one hundred brave fellows who left here, but twenty-five now remain—the rest having been killed or having died from camp disease.

The funeral services of Edward Bucchel, a German musician of some note, took place day before yesterday. The cortege passed through the principal streets, and was a very imposing affair. No less then eighty performers on brass instruments took part in the ceremonies, and the manner in which they played Beethoven's Grand Funeral March on Montgomery street attracted thousands to the sidewalks. FEY.

IMPORTANT TO LAWYERS.—Among the late decisions of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue are the following which may be of interest to members of the bar and others:

An appeal or instrument by which a suit is transferred from a Justice of the Peace to a Superior Court is an original process, and subject to stamp duty as such.

The jurat of an affidavit taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of five cents. Where, however, affidavit is made relative to any petition, motion or other proceeding, in any suit actually pending in any court, no stamp duty chargeable thereon, in consideration of the stamp affixed to the 'original process,' by which such suit was commenced. The fifty cent stamp affixed to the 'original process' in the commencement of a suit exempts affidavits made or certificates issued under it.

WHAT A HEN EATS.—We were this morning shown a part of the contents of the gizzard of a hen, which was killed here in town yesterday. It consisted of a brass watch-key, a brass headed nail, five pieces of brass buttons, four pieces of brass wire, each from three-fourths of an inch to two inches in length, and six pieces of flint glass, each about the size of a bean. The process of digestion of this hard mass appears to have begun. The ends and the sharp corners of the pieces of brass had become smooth, and more strange still, the sharp corners of the pieces of glass had become rounded, and the whole outer surface of the several pieces presented the appearance as if it had been ground. The hen was evidently preparing this Spring to lay a litter of hard shell eggs.—Gold Hill News.

THE RATIONALE OF 'ENCORES.'—A funny paper pithily asks by what right does an auditor cheat and rob an artist by encoring? A play bill promises that if you pay a specific sum you shall have a specific song. You pay the money (or go in with an order) and you demand twice the music you have bargained for. Do you serve anybody so, except an artist? If you buy a pair of trousers, and they please you, do you encore your trousers; that is, require the tailor to give you another pair? Do you encore a dozen oysters, asking the second lot for nothing because the first were succulent? Do you encore a portrait, and because the painter has succeeded admirably in taking your likeness, do you clap and stamp about his studio until he paints you another copy for nothing?

CRUDE BULLION.—Yesterday morning Ewing carried up to Blake's assay office a ponderous slab of silver bullion, fresh from Fall's mill—about as much as he could manage. We are not at liberty, this week, to tell you more about it.

LAWS OF NEVADA TERRITORY—1864.—Hon. Orion Clemens, Secretary of State, has our thanks for a copy of this creditably done and very useful catalogue of toll-road franchises. To a traveler in the country, a few years from now, it will be an indispensable guide.

NEW GOODS.—Ewing & Washburn received, Wednesday, a large addition to their stock of groceries, liquors, hardware, clothing, &c., as exhibited at their stores in this place and Dun Glen. A sample of 50 Havana cigars, brand 'Corona de Oro,' sustains the title fully, as far as we've got. If the stock is all as choice, it will do to buy.

MANITOWOC BULLION.—A small lot of second class ore, experimented upon last week, turned out a little bar of 94 ounces.

REAVIS & USHER have been making additions to the stock of fine liquors and cigars always to be found in their billiard saloon down the street. Andy got in from Chico with two bull teams, loaded down with 4th of July, and Tuesday evening we received compliments of Usher, in shape of two bottles of sparkling wine. The Easy-Chair Saloon is a good place to call.

A TRI-WEEKLY PONY.—S. W. Langton called on us this week, being out to arrange agencies and other matters, preparatory to entering upon the performance of the mail service for which he is under contract with the Government. He will run a pony line for the present, carrying the mail and express packages. Will afford later dates than we get at present; and expects, when times improve, to come in with passenger wagons. The Unionville agency is at Freeman's hotel; Star, at the Postoffice; and L. C. Pease is agent at Humboldt City.

[illegible] were shipped by Ewing & Washburn on Thursday's stage. 945.34 ounces, worth [illegible]

STRANGERS turn up very plentifully, now. The stages come full of persons looking after interests already secured or for others that may be. We notice in the number Mr. Ellsworth, of San Francisco, a large owner in the 'Evening Star'—with which he is well pleased; Mr. Hawley, of Marysville, Capt. Conner, of Oroville, Mr. Whipple, of San Francisco, and a number of others from different parts of California.

J. C. FALL, Esq., has returned from below, and is hard at work at the mill. He purchased an engine and boiler, but is in doubt about the propriety of shipping out at present—having more water in his flume than he can use.

FROM THE EAST.—Louisville, Ky., June 11.—Frankfort was threatened by guerrillas, and the State archives removed to a place of safety. By order of the Governor all citizens able were armed [illegible] and the rebels fled.

June 12.—At Cynthiana, Morgan attacked 168th and 171st Ohio regiments, under Hobson, and during a fight in the streets the rebels fired the town, to dislodge Federals who took refuge in the courthouse. Hobson, after losing about 65 men, surrendered—1,500.

Burbridge afterwards attacked Morgan, and routed him—taking 150 prisoners, including 20 officers; and at last account was still in pursuit.

Dallas, June 11.—From Sherman's line we learn that the rebels attacked McPherson most impetuously, but were disastrously repulsed—leaving on the field about 2,000 killed and wounded.

Washington, June 12.—A dispatch from Hunter says they met the enemy at Piedmont, and routed him with great slaughter—killing Gen. Jones, commanding, and capturing 1,600 prisoners, 3,000 stand of arms, and 3 pieces artillery.

White House, June 13.—Tribune's correspondent reports capture of Fort Darling. No official report, however, to that effect.

LATER.—NEW YORK, June 17.—Grant had crossed his army to Bermuda Hundred, and commenced operations against Petersburg. Was in possession of the Railroad connecting Richmond with Petersburg. The Danville road was then the only road leading out of Richmond and not in possession of the Federals; and Hunter was to take that. The new Government loan of $75,000,000 was taking rapidly, at from par to 8 per cent. premium.

Recruiting in this Territory ordered discontinued.

Lee was moving his army into Petersburg.

Maximilian reached Vera Cruz 28th May.

MONEY MATTERS.—The new Banking House about to be established in this city gives assurance of an abundance of capital, and our mercantile community have every reason to congratulate themselves upon the increased facilities thus offered for the transaction of business.

The present Banking firm of Donohoe, Ralston & Co. will be dissolved on the 1st July, prox., but not only is no capital to be withdrawn from the service of the public, but a large amount hitherto otherwise employed will be added thereto. The retiring partners, Messrs. J. A. Donohoe and Eugene Kelly, with handsome cash means, will immediately commence business in their new and elegant banking house on the corner of Montgomery and Sacramento streets, while the business of the old firm, under the direction of the remaining members, Messrs. R. S. Fretz and Wm C Ralston, will become merged in an institution to be called the 'Bank of California,' with a very important enlargement of capital and resources, quite unrivaled on this coast. This will be the first joint stock company incorporated under the laws of this State, for the purpose of banking; and in referring to it we can not but express our gratification upon a few prominent points. First, that it will stand upon a specie basis, the currency of California—gold and silver; it is to be no paper money bank. Second, the capital stock, which we understand is to be $2,000,000, will be actually paid up in gold; such at least is the programme—no subterfuge in the shape of Stock Notes or anything of less value than gold itself. Thirdly, it will be under the conduct of some of our most experienced and wealthy citizens—men of sound heads and long purses, who have achieved success for themselves individually, are well known, and familiar with the business of the country, and whose connection with the bank is a guarantee to the public, that it will succeed and be a public benefit; a safe place of deposit, and an institution where a solvent business man with good securities, may reasonably expect accommodation in time of need.

The business managers of the new concern will be Messrs D. O. Mills and Wm C. Ralston.—S. F. Paper.

History of the Indian Hunt.

The following entertaining and concise account of the late expedition against the Bannock Indians, in the vicinity of Big Snow Mountain, is furnished us by a resident of Star City—one of the many estimable gentlemen who were of the party—who kept notes as the party moved, and furnishes this account as interesting to the public. It certainly will prove so; and we hope to have, occasionally, something more from the same easy-going pen:

EDITOR REGISTER: Yourself, and most of your readers hereabouts, are by this time pretty well advised of the movements of the 'Humboldt Rangers' who have recently returned from their raid against the Bannocks, but I have still thought that an account of the expedition from one of the 'returned veterans' might prove interesting to many:

I wrote you from Paradise Valley and our first camp beyond, telling you of the final organization of the company and of the hardships that the incessant storms from the day we set out, had brought upon us. It might be well enough to repeat here, that we left Paradise Valley with forty-nine men besides our two trusty Piutes; that S. D. Prescott, of Star, was our Captain, J. R. Vance, of Unionville, second in command, and that our little force was arrayed in four divisions, commanded respectively by A. J. Simmons, of Star, W. G. Hollins, and Jas. Yandle, of Unionville, and N. B. McNamer, of Dun Glen.

We left Paradise Valley in a heavy shower of rain on the afternoon of May 20, moving in a westerly direction, and passing through the gap in the Santa Rosa Mountain. Camped about sunset on a fine stream near the Boise trail. Were met on the road by a number of men from the Boise region, who told us of reports they had heard of large bodies of Indians, numbering in all 600 or more, who had heard of our coming and awaited us in the vicinity of the 'Big Snow Mountain'—about 90 miles to the northwest.

Next morning there was a stampede of our horses, and it was late at night before they were all brought back to camp. Early next morning, however, Capt. Prescott sent scouts ahead, and moved forward with his command in the direction of the 'Big Snow Mountain;' although we did not know but we might find there more Indians than we had 'lost.' A ride of twenty miles, over hills and across sage-brush plains, brought us to Quin's River—a sluggish stream with a miry bottom, where it was necessary to take the packs from our animals and ferry them over on our backs. We camped on the west side of this stream—the magnificent bottom lands along its margin affording excellent feed for our horses.

Early next morning Simmons was sent forward with six men to the scene of the massacre—40 miles distant—to ascertain if any Indians were in that vicinity. This scouting party arrived at dusk upon the ground. Saw no sign of Indians, but found the bodies of two of the murdered men, and chose a safe camp for the night on the slope of a beautiful grassy ridge in the vicinity.

In the mean time, the main body moved forward 25 miles, over a rough and rocky road, and camped for the night. A ride of 15 miles next day across stony ridges and deep ravines brought us, about noon, to the camp of the scouting party, which was adopted by Capt. Prescott as the stopping-place of the whole command whilst we were in the neighborhood; and with one voice was called 'Camp Noble,' in honor of the brave man who behaved so gallantly and was so fearfully wounded in the desperate encounter at the foot of the neighboring mountain. In the afternoon, the bodies of all the murdered men were found—all horribly mutilated, and in an advanced stage of decomposition. But, sickening as was the task, the boys labored cheerfully and buried them all separately, in good, deep graves. Our party collected such little articles of their booty as the Indians had left behind. One or two picks and shovels, a pack-saddle, a box for a brass musical instrument, that belonged [illegible] a single spur [illegible].

It seemed miraculous that a single one of Dodge's [party] escaped from the trap in which they were caught. The spot where they were first fired upon lies just at the foot of a very beautiful and symmetrical peak of a conical form, which, singularly enough, Dodge had discovered three weeks before his death and called 'Mount Disaster'—a name which it will now bear forever. Granite ledges crop out boldly on two sides of the little basin where Dodge and his party were attacked, and huge bowlders are scattered round as if designed for the hiding places of a savage foe. There is no open ground within a mile of that fatal camp.

Returning to Camp Noble, it was proposed to reconnoitre the country for some distance around, in search of a camp of the enemy. A portion of the country around us consists of smooth hills and ridges, covered with a luxuriant growth of grasses, and watered by numbers of fine streams. This beautiful tract—several miles in extent—contrasted strongly with the rough and precipitous [illegible] and the south and east, with [illegible] and with the elevated mountain ridge [illegible], seamed with volcanic chasms, [illegible] 10 miles to the north.

Next [illegible] (May 25), Capt. P. reserving ten [illegible] men as a guard for our camp, Simmons, McNamer, Yandle and Hollins were sent out with their respective divisions to scour the country in all directions. All returned, however, by the close of the following day, having seen no Indians nor any fresh traces of them.

The trail of the horses taken from the murdered men led in a westerly direction across the valley of King's River, towards the Rattlesnake range of mountains beyond. On the morning of the 27th, having sent scouting parties in advance, we proceeded four or five miles over the mountains, and filed down a precipitous cañon into King's River Valley; crossing which, we camped at a warm spring in the foot-hills of the Rattlesnake range. Early next morning we were again on the march with our scouts ahead, our route lying directly over the mountain. We had not gone far when our scouts discovered fresh signs of Indians. We now proceeded cautiously, and immediately after passing the summit five Indians were discovered; but it soon became evident they had notice of our approach—for when the main body came up and charged upon their rancheries, we found them empty. The company was now broken into small parties, which went in all directions in search of the enemy. One or more Indians were occasionally caught sight of, and an irregular firing was kept up the remainder of the day; and two scalps were taken. This put us in fine humor, and made us keen for more of the sport. We camped in high glee that night on the bank of a beautiful trout stream, that rippled along through the battle-ground of the day. Here, however, just after sunset, the accidental discharge of a gun, by which our worthy Commissary and another of our best men were seriously wounded, served to dispirit us and dampen our ardor.

Next day in the afternoon the whole command passed down Wheeler creek, and camped just after dark, near its junction with Quin River. From this point the wounded men and an escort started for home the next morning. There were now 34 men left, besides our two Piutes; and upon the departure of our comrades, we proceeded to a re-organization of the company. By the unanimous voice of the company, Capt. Prescott and Lieut. Vance were retained in command. Our little force was then arranged into two divisions, which A. J. Simmons and Jos. Myers were chosen to command.

These arrangements completed, we leapt into our saddles and bore away to the northwest. Crossing some 20 miles of desert, we camped at the mouth of a cañon proceeding from a large and craggy granite mountain; and about a mile distant from the first battle-ground of the party from Humboldt which went out against the Bannocks two years ago. Here we prospected for Indians next day, without success; and at night fall took up our line of march for the Puebla Mountain—25 miles to the north. We lay down after midnight for a few hours rest, and at dawn of day proceeded up 'Butte Cañon.' A rough and perilous road of about two miles, brought us into a magnificent valley or basin, in the very heart of the mountain, and some 10 or 12 miles south of Puebla Mountain. After breakfast and a short rest, the remainder of the day was devoted to a diligent but fruitless search for Indians.

Next morning (June 2), we took up our line of march over the mountains in the direction of Puebla City. We nooned at the head of Puebla Cañon, down which Capt. Prescott and a party of ten men proceeded to Puebla City where they found Major Harmon and five or six others; all well, and reported they had seen no Indians and suffered no disturbance; but that Mordoff and two others, who had left Puebla City for the Owyhee some weeks before, had not been heard from, and that they entertained serious fears for their safety. They expressed the opinion that we would find Indians at the 'Big Snow Mountain,' from which we were now only 25 or 30 miles distant.

The main body moving six or eight miles in a northwesterly direction from the head of Puebla Cañon, selected a splendid camp for the night in a fine mountain valley. Capt. P. and his party, making the tour of the northeastern portion of Puebla Mountain, did not reach camp till the following morning.

As we were leaving this camp, fresh signs of Indians were discovered by the scouts; and moving five miles further to the northwest, we again pitched camp, and almost the whole command, broken into small parties, scoured the country in all directions. We came upon some recently abandoned camps, but did not come up with any Indians. As soon as it was dark enough to conceal our movements, Capt. Prescott with fourteen men—your correspondent among the number—made a march of 18 or 20 miles, in a northwesterly direction, through rough cañons and over volcanic ridges; stopping about 2 o'clock and awaiting the break of day in a rocky basin that effectually concealed us from the view of any Indians that might be near us. We were in our saddles by the dawn of day on the morning of the 4th, and had proceeded but a short distance when we descried a smoke rising from the slope of a mountain some three or four miles distant. Dividing into two parties, we circled round and approached rapidly from opposite directions, completely surprising the Indian camp—for such it proved to be. We were greatly chagrined, however, when we found it contained but one Indian, whom we quickly despatched. An excellent gun, the meat of an antelope freshly killed, and a quantity of Indian trinkets, were our spoils. Dividing the meat and packing it behind our saddles, we made a wide circuit, passing over craggy and precipitous mountains, reaching camp, worn and weary, just at sunset.

Shortly after our arrival the remainder of the command, under Vance and Simmons, took up their march for Horse Creek, in the Big Snow Mountain—where we expected to find a host of Indians and a big fight. V. and S. reached Horse Creek, and by sunrise had made a thorough reconnoissance of that locality. They found large numbers of old camps, and the ground pitted with tracks of horses and ponies; but not one Indian met their eager gaze. Capt. P. with the rear guard came up about noon, and the whole command went into camp, sour and dispirited. This was the point where we had all hoped to distinguish ourselves by our gallantry and daring, and enrich ourselves with the spoils of the enemy.

We now had less than a week's rations left—barely sufficient to take us home by the most direct route. It were folly to go any further into the enemy's country; so on the morning of the 6th we reluctantly turned our faces homeward—taking the route we thought most likely to bring us upon some camp of the Bannocks. We took for the day a southeasterly course, passing to the south of a large alkali lake, and in the vicinity of a number of large hot springs; crossing a deep stream on a willow pontoon, and camping for the night some 15 or 20 miles higher upon the same stream, having made a day's march of about 25 miles. Our camp here was a pleasant one, and for the first since we set out we took a much needed day's rest. We called the stream Prescott Creek, in honor of our Captain—and gave the name of our popular Lieutenant to our camp.

Greatly refreshed, we pulled out from Camp Vance on the morning of the 8th, taking nearly a due southern course, with our scouts in advance and on each flank of the main body. We had not proceeded far when our scouts discovered fresh sign of Indians; and shortly after we came upon them and their camps. The Indians scattered in all directions upon our approach, which rendered necessary the irregular and desultory mode of fighting usually resorted to with Indians. Our friend ——— was among the first to discover the enemy, and distinguished himself as usual by his coolness and gallantry. He opened the fight by riding boldly up to five well armed warriors, shooting one of them down with a double-barreled shotgun [illegible] craggy and broken; the hill tops covered with a dense growth of mountain mahogany, and many of the slopes with an impenetrable chapparel. The Indians were of course soon strongly posted behind rocks or concealed in the bushes. But the boys were eager, and hunted them like so many beasts of prey. We killed two of their warriors and wounded several more. But we paid dearly for the scalps that dangled from the bridle reins of some of the Rangers that night. Our esteemed comrade C. Rewald was killed by a shot from a musket, whilst gallantly but rashly charging upon some Indians posted in a ledge of rocks. We buried him in a cañon, on the [illegible] of a hill near where he fell. He died [illegible] may he sleep in peace!

We [illegible] the rancheries of the Indians, [illegible] they fled precipitately on our approach. We found many trifling articles belonging to Dodge and the men murdered with him: clothing, pieces of their watches, etc.—sufficient to convince us beyond all question, of the participancy of these Indians in the outrage we had come to avenge. Several pounds of ammunition, a brass kettle, some deer-hides, and the usual amount of Indian trinkets, were likewise part of our booty. A squaw and papoose were captured during the fight, but were afterwards released. We had an excellent camp that night, about a mile from the scene of the fight.

On the morning of the 9th we crossed over the mountain to the head waters of King's River, which we followed to the valley. Here our scouts caught sight of three Indians in the foot hills near King's River. We charged upon them, and killed them all before they could get into the mountains. Our Indian fighting ended here. We camped that night at the forks of King's River, and next day proceeding down King's Valley we came upon a band of sixteen cattle, which had been stolen by the Indians. Our rations at this time were very short—having nothing but flour and rancid bacon, and but little of that. We did not hesitate, therefore, to put the carcass of one of the cattle in charge of our Commissary, with instructions to deal out in double rations. Next morning, having dispatched a party after the cattle, we took our way southward, steering directly for Star Peak—whose snowy summit loomed up grandly, a hundred miles away. We took a short siesta at Quin River in the afternoon, and camped late at night for a few hours rest on the little 'Sahara' that stretches from Quin River to the Humboldt. We were on the march at daylight, and reached Humboldt River, at a point just south of Lone Mountain, on the afternoon of the 12th—having made a weary march of more than 50 miles without water—there being none at this point between the two rivers. A pleasant ride of 35 miles brought us to Star in the afternoon of the 13th. Here we were all soon made 'happy,' for we became the honored guests of the virtuous 'Ganders.'

Your correspondent has, he thinks, faithfully stated the facts regarding our recent raid; which has taken greater space than he should have wished. There may be trifling inaccuracies, but he feels certain there are no grave errors in any of his statements.

THE HUMBOLDT SALT MINE is showing signs of having emerged from the miserable condition in which bad management has kept it so long. Large quantities are now shipping, to Virginia, Reese River, and other points. One day last week 13 teams were loaded. One cent a-pound.

COUNTY ASSESSOR.—At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners, last week, Hiram Welch was appointed to this office. He has his blanks ready, and will soon set about listing the taxable property of the county—'including mines and mining interests;' which is an interesting item to all of you.

TRAIL TO ECHO.—This work, which has long been needed, has at last been performed—at least as far as the summit from this side. Terry, acting Supervisor, has done exceedingly well with the road fund and work. The work down the Echo side of the mountain is much easier, we understand, than on this side; and the Echo boys will soon finish it.

Keeping It before the People.

The California papers are very amusing, and some of them have been so for a year past. They operate to a charming effect in this line, by their continual harping of the old song: 'Ours are the best mines, and our people are the most prosperous; Washoe is a humbug, and silver ledges a delusion; and the climate is insufferable, and everybody is coming back!' They have harped that for nearly two years, in fact; and still harp it. Editors in dilapidated, shriveled towns in the dry diggings, who year by year see their business going into decay, try to keep a good face on affairs, when the only real object hoped to be accomplished is to keep the remnant of their population from crossing the Sierra Nevada.

We all know that the population of this Territory is continually increasing. We know that it draws on California for this increase; for the people who cross the plains are not so sharp as Californians, and have not yet learned better than to keep right on through Silverland to the old Golden State. Then where is the sense in so much talk about people having their eye-teeth cut and abandoning the Territory? Some go, while others come; but the stages with great uniformity carry larger loads hither than they take away. As to the climate; no one pretends to rate it with California; and that is corroborative testimony that there is something here worth stopping for.' Assuredly people do not quit the magnificent climate under the genial skies of California, to swelter and shrug in this inhospitable land, without improved prospects in the great game of life—money-making.

It is a great folly, tending to some bitterness of feeling and productive of no good—this snarling at the young Territory and depicting disaster as the common lot of those who visit it or abide in it. The Territory is a good customer to the Golden State, paying high prices in hard bullion. It is building up the State, which had begun to fall into the slow-going style of the Atlantic States. Our people go to California for recreation, and spend their money liberally—profusely; and when they have acquired a competency, many have taken up their abode in the old State, to which they were attracted by advantages of climate and soil, and by pleasant memories. Most of us have lived in California, and love it still; and must decline being arrayed against it, as jealous of its prosperity. There is a hard metal bond of sympathy uniting the Territory and the State, and the prosperity of one should delight, as it benefits, the other. The following just remarks on this subject we clip from the Virginia Union:

The croakers of the California press and elsewhere, who think that our Territory is a sort of Jericho, whose walls of prosperity will crumble before the sonorous blast of their penny trumpets, are greatly mistaken. Well street buglers may frighten the timid, but they can not shake the edifice of a prosperity whose basis rests in the caverns of the everlasting hills. The 'bears' who hope to create anything more than a temporary depression of our mining shares, are but short-sighted pigmies, who ignorantly contend with the forces and resources of nature itself. Like Thor, of old, in the palace of Utgard Loki, they battle with giants and know it not. The cup of our prosperity, which they would drain, connects with an ocean of silver beneath the hills. The jewel of wealth, which they would tear from us, is a portion of that mid-gard serpent whose glittering scales literally encircle the earth. The seemingly feeble embodiment of financial growth which they would overthrow, is destined to be the source of supply of the financial centers of the world, and will defy them in every effort. The capital of Europe and the Atlantic States will seek our mountains for investment within the next four years. Patience and courage all, and learn to wait and hope.

WILD PEACH.—The hills of Alpine county are covered with a bush called the wild peach, which grows to the [illegible] on this [illegible] beauty and are what will come of it.—Ex.

The same sort of wild peach grows plentifully hereabouts, and bears fruit; though a very feeble sample.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PACIFIC.—Maj. Gen. Irvin McDowell, formerly of the Army of the Potomac, is shortly to succeed to this command, vice Wright.

District Court Summons.

The Grass Valley National announces improvements to be made soon, and J. R. Ridge as associate editor. Monitor Gazette has improved its heading, but still sports the circus top.

GEORGE LEWIS.—We are indebted to S. W. Langton for bringing out the 'compliments of George Lewis.' ## Unionville, Saturday, June 25, 1864.

STAR ITEMS.—A horse was stolen from A. W. Dunnigan, of Rockhill Cañon. The theft was committed by an Indian, who was seen by a sheep herder. Capitan Sioux was called on by the owner of the horse, a talk was held, and the capitan promised to have the horse sent back.

Sheba mill is pushing rapidly on towards completion. The engines and machinery on the ground, and the buildings almost finished.

A new stock has just made its appearance in our market, of the genus feline. Great demand for it, and several sales noted. Long may it wave! And may the buyers realize their fondest hopes, and not be obliged to tread alone, seeing others enjoying the fruits of their labors.

A contract to run a tunnel in the 'Gov. Bigler' has been let to Judge Berry, of this place, at $27 per foot. Preparations have been made to go to work immediately, and as the croppings are very prominent, there is no doubt but what they will strike a big thing in due time.

The contractors running an incline on the 'Cosmopolitan' have completed their work. The mineral had improved greatly as they went down.

The 'Original Magna Charta' has been incorporated, and the stock will soon be issued.

The numerous blasts put off in the 'Trinity' tunnel make it difficult to sleep in that part of the town. They are in nearly 40 feet. Last week they run 18 feet, working two shifts.

The Indian fighters are gradually returning to their old occupations, though with some reluctance.

Company D, of Nevada Volunteer Cavalry, camped in town a few days. Capt. Wells was in command, and was pronounced by good judges here a gentleman. While the company was here cheese was lively, with an upward tendency. Boots, also, went off right and left.

Rosenthal has commenced to put up a large building on the corner of the Plaza. A great portion of his lumber is on the ground.

Considerable complaint has been made about the Gandera being too hilarious in their midnight meetings. It may be some consolation to the aggrieved parties to know that if they dislike their close proximity to the Club House they still have the liberty of removing farther off.

S. W. Langton has just paid us a flying visit, for the purpose of arranging the mail route from Dayton to this place and Humboldt City. He will run a pony, carrying the mails three times a week.

Cutler & Westerfield's Express left Wednesday night at 12 o'clock, carrying 1,160 papers to Jordan Creek and Idaho City.

ANOTHER INDIAN RUMOR.—A letter from a former resident of this county, dated 'Long Gulch, Jordan Creek, June 12th,' mentions a rumor which was generally credited in the Jordan Creek mines. The rumor runs to the effect that Captain John, with 10 or 15 other Piute, was peacefully strolling about in the Jordan Creek country, always manifesting the best of feeling toward white men who met him; and that a company of U. S. soldiers down from Oregon, hunting Indians, came upon and massacred the entire party. The writer seems filled with indignation thereat, which sentiment he says is shared by the other people thereabout. That was, if as represented, an affair to be regretted; but it is one of the many incidents to the fact that the two races of people are inimical to each other, and as one acquires the ascendency in any part of the country the other must gradually waste away. There is an irrepressible conflict, which makes a general war of the two races in one region impossible. We might almost say sacrilege or profanity, considering the plain laws of nature in the case, report a coroner's jury in the case the same as is done in many more dubious cases, 'died by visitation of God.'

The writer of the letter referred to is apprehensive that this 'butchery' will have the effect of uniting the Piutes, Pannocks and Shoshones, for an indiscriminate war upon the whites. We have no such fears; but if the poor rascals do think the times are slow—if they don't think there's any hell—and are disposed to hurry up Destiny—let them start in. Oregon tactics will be adopted at once, and the poor rascals will soon think there's no balm in Gilead.

CUTLER & WESTERFIELD'S EXPRESS, for Jordan Creek and Boise, has completed arrangements by which people in those regions will be regularly supplied with all the leading weekly papers of this Territory and California—Humboldt Register, Territorial Enterprise, Humboldt Register, Sacramento Union, Humboldt Register, Virginia Union, Humboldt Register, and others. Wednesday, their pack pony carried 164 lbs. Register, and other papers—including 750 copies of the Sacramento Union, and Registers and other papers to the number of 1,165 in all—beside the letters.
